ON THE COVER
Tonight, two seniors will lead the Tigers into the first ever Thursday night ESPN game in Death Valley. Placekicker David Richardson grew up less than a mile away from Memorial Stadium and as a youth sold programs to earn admission into Clemson games. Tonight he is one of the featured players on the cover. The other is senior punter Kevin Laird who as a punter has been a model of cosistency throughout his career. Laird's career punting average ranks among the top-10 in Clemson history.

Brian Wofford has over 100 yards receiving in each of the last two games.

Clemson-Tech Series Notes

Georgia Tech has a 40-20-2 lead in the series with Clemson dating back to a 23-0 Clemson win in Augusta, GA in 1898, just the 11th game in Clemson football history. In fact Clemson won the first four games of the series, including games in 1902 and 1903 when John Heisman was at the helm. Clemson defeated Georgia Tech in Atlanta 73-0 in 1903 with Heisman as head coach. Heisman then moved to Georgia Tech and defeated Clemson two years later (1905) by a 17-10 score.

The Tigers have a 7-2 advantage in games at Clemson, but Georgia Tech leads 38-10-2 in games played in Atlanta. Clemson traveled to Atlanta for its semi-annual game with Georgia Tech every meeting between 1907 and 1974. Clemson's only wins in those 36 meetings came in 1907, 1936, 1945 and 1969. The latter was Frank Howard's final season as head coach.

The first time Georgia Tech played in Clemson's stadium was 1974, a 21-17 Clemson victory. Clemson has a 9-6 advantage in the series, regardless of site, since Georgia Tech joined the ACC in 1983. Clemson had a four-game winning streak over Georgia Tech snapped last year when Tech won in Atlanta, 23-20.

Clemson won the last meeting at Clemson, 28-25, in 1996. Nealon Greene scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak with just 4:10 left to give Clemson its fourth straight victory over Georgia Tech. Raymond Priester led the Tigers with 175 yards rushing in 25 attempts. Greene hit 11-20 passes for 156 yards and a touchdown. Clemson gained 418 yards in total offense, 262 rushing and 156 passing.

In 1995 in Atlanta, Clemson won by a 24-3 score. With the exception of that game in 1995, the two teams have played many close games since Tech joined the league. In 1994 Clemson won 20-10. Clemson also won 16-13 in 1993, but Tech defeated the Tigers 20-16 in 1992 in a game televised by ESPN. Clemson won 9-7 in 1991 and Tech downed Clemson 21-19 in 1990, the Yellow Jackets' national championship season. Both teams finished that 1990 season ranked in the top 10 in the nation. Thus, seven of the last eight meetings between the teams have been decided by 10 points or less.

One of the highlights for Clemson in the series has been rushing defense. In 1994 C.J. Williams broke a streak of 18 years without a Tech back gaining 100 yards against Clemson when he had 117 in 25 attempts. But, Williams had just 13-31 in the 1995 game and 23-59 in the 1996 game at Clemson. Georgia Tech has had just six 100-yard rushing games against Clemson in its history. Last year Tech failed to have a 50-yard rusher against Clemson and had just 123 yards rushing in the contest.

Streeter Sets Two Single Game Records

Clemson quarterback Brandon Streeter broke two school single game passing records against NC State last week. He completed 27 of 38 passes for 329 yards and three touchdowns. The 27 completions and 329 yards were single game marks. Nealon Greene had the old completions record with 26 against Virginia last year and Thomas Ray had the old passing yardage record with 323 against North Carolina in 1965.

Streeter's performance was outstanding in a number of areas. He completed 12-14 passes for 176 yards and three scores in the fourth quarter alone, the top fourth quarter passing game in Clemson history. He completed touchdown passes of 14 yards to Mal Lawyer, 52 yards to Brian Wofford, and 25 yards to Lawyer. He also led the Tigers 30 yards in six plays to a field goal that gave Clemson a 39-38 lead with 2:15 to play.

Overall, he led Clemson to 303 yards of total offense and 15 first downs in the second half. He completed 20-25 passes in the half and had a passing efficiency of 159 for the game. Clemson's 329 yards passing for the game was the fourth highest as a team in Clemson history.

Streeter has completed 122 of 227 passes for 1621 yards and nine scores this season. Streeter needs just 36 yards against Georgia Tech to move into second place on Clemson's single season passing yardage list. Nealon Greene has the record with 2212 set last year. He has a chance to become just the second 2000-yard passer in Clemson history. Streeter is averaging 180.1 yards per game, second behind the pace Nealon Greene set last year (184.33). Streeter's 122 completions rank fourth best in Clemson history for a season.

The NC State game was the highest scoring game decided by a touchdown or less in Clemson history. It was the first game in school history in which both starting quarterbacks threw for at least 300 yards and the 703 passing yards were the most ever in a Clemson game by both teams combined. The total points scored (85) ranked fifth highest in Clemson history for two teams combined.

Jones Has 118 Tackles

Senior inside linebacker Chris Jones had another double digit tackle game against NC State. The native of Monroe, GA had 14 tackles in the game, seven first hits and seven assists, and he now has 118 tackles for the season. He ranks second in the ACC in tackles per game and he has led the Tigers in tackles in seven of the nine contests.

Jones has had a remarkable season. A player who had never started a game prior to this year, he has taken on a defensive leadership role to post double digit tackle totals in seven of the nine games this year. He has had at least eight tackles in every game and a high of 19 against Wake Forest. He was the ACC Defensive Player of the Week for his performance against Maryland when he had 13 tackles, three tackles for loss and two sacks. He scored a touchdown on a fumble return against Furman in the season opener.

With his 118 tackles this year in nine games, he has exceeded the total for his career entering this year. He had recorded 117 tackles in 35 games prior to this year. The productive 1998 season has brought him into the top 25 in Clemson history in tackles with 235. When he gets 12 more tackles he will move into the top 20.

Clemson Has 29 Sacks

Clemson and Georgia Tech are among the top three quarterback sack teams in the ACC. Tech leads with 27 in eight games, a 3.4 per game average, while Clemson and Florida State both have 29 in nine games, 3.2 per game. Leading the way for Clemson is defensive end Adrian Dingle, who has nine sacks to tie for the ACC lead with Jesse Tarplin of Georgia Tech. Rahim Abdullah is second with 4.5 sacks, while Jason Holloman is third with four.

Dingle needs just one sack to tie the Clemson single season sack record. Jim Stuckey had 10 in 1979, William Perry had 10 in 1984 and Michael Dean Perry had 10 in 1987.

Clemson 14th in Nation in Rushing Defense

Clemson has been outstanding stopping the run this year. Clemson has allowed just 100 yards rushing per game this year, the 14th best figure in the nation. Opponents have gotten just 2.7 yards per rush in the nine games. Chris Jones and his 118 tackles, and a strong group of defensive linemen led by Donald Broomfield, have had a lot to do with that statistic.

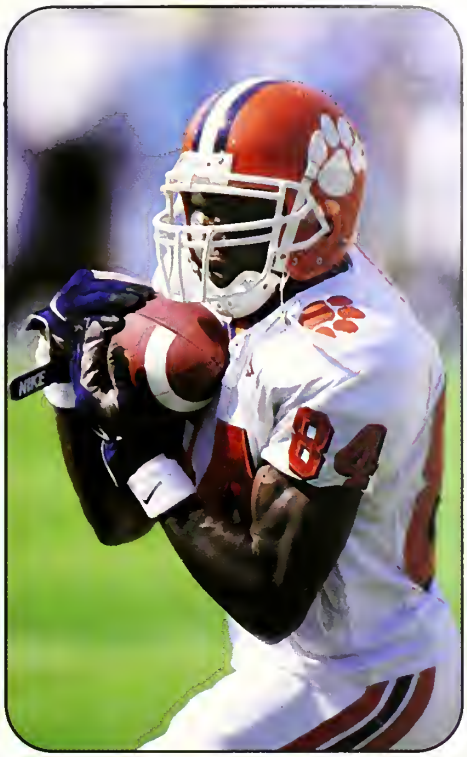
Clemson is second to Florida State in the ACC standings in rushing defense and total defense. Clemson has given up just 317.8 yards per game overall, second only to Florida State's 216, which ranks second in the nation. Clemson is also second in the ACC in third down conversion defense, allowing just .269.

Georgia Tech Update

Georgia Tech has a 6-2 record and is tied for first in the ACC with a 5-1 mark heading into its

Brandon Streeter completed 12-14 passes for 176 yards and three scores in the fourth quarter against NC State on the way to a record-breaking performance.

Mal Lawyer had 8 catches for 100 yards and two touchdowns against NC State.



game with Clemson. Tech's only ACC loss was at home to Florida State, 34-7 on October 24th. George O'Leary's team has won this year with an outstanding big play offense led by quarterback Joe Hamilton, and a big play defense.

Georgia Tech has some unusual statistics for a team with a 6-2 record and a top 25 ranking. Tech ranks last in the ACC in total defense, giving up 391 yards per game. They are also last in rushing defense, allowing 192.8 yards per game. In a victory over Virginia this year, Tech gave up 600 yards total offense.

But, they are third where it counts, scoring defense, and first in scoring offense. Tech had a streak of five straight games in which it scored at least 40 points. In a season opening loss to Boston College the Yellow Jackets scored 31 points. Incredibly, six times this year in six different games, Georgia Tech has returned a fumble for a touchdown. That is an NCAA record for a season and they have played just eight games. Tech has 11 fumble returns for 198 yards and six scores. They have also collected eight interceptions, giving them 19 forced turnovers. In terms of turnover margin, Georgia Tech is 18th in the nation.

Hamilton, an ACC Player of the Year candidate, is first in the ACC and 17th in the nation in passing efficiency with a 147.16 figure. He has completed 54 percent of his passes for 1614 yards and 14 scores. His favorite target is Dez White, who has 36 catches for 839 yards and eight scores. He leads the ACC in yards per catch with a 23.3 average, including a 243-yard performance against Virginia. He also had 67 yards in returns in that game, giving him an ACC best 310 yards all-purpose running. White has three times as many receptions and five times as many receiving yards as any other Tech player.

The top rusher for Georgia Tech is Joe Burns, who has 354 yards in eight games. He has gained yards at a 5.1 yard clip and is coming off a 179-yard performance against Maryland, the top running game of the year for a Georgia Tech back and the fourth best performance by an ACC player this year.

DeLaunta Cameron is the top tackler for Georgia Tech with 65 in eight games. He has two fumble returns for 59 yards, both for touchdowns. Jesse Tarplin has a team high nine sacks for 73 yards and has 46 tackles overall. Jamara Clark has nine passes broken up to lead the team in that area, while Jason Bostic has two interceptions, six passes broken up and a fumble return for 21 yards.

Tech has been outstanding in special teams. They boast the top punt returner in the league in Charlie Rogers (14.6 average, 8th in the nation) and the second best kickoff return man in White, who averages 27 yards per return. Rodney Williams is 18th in the nation in punting with a 43.5 average, while placekicker Brad Chambers is 9-16 in field goals.

Two Receivers Over 100 Yards vs. State

Clemson recorded a first in its history against NC State. The Tiger offense had a pair of 100-yard receivers, the first time Clemson has ever had two players reach the 100-yard mark in the same game.

Classmates and roommates Brian Wofford and Mal Lawyer both had career highs in the major receiving categories in the NC State game. Wofford had nine catches for 128 yards and a touchdown, while Lawyer had 8-100 and two touchdowns. It was the first multiple touchdown game of Lawyer's career.

Both players also had career highs in terms of all-purpose running. Wofford had 128 yards receiving and 27 more in kickoff returns, giving him 155 all-purpose yards, while Lawyer had 81 in kickoff returns to go with 100 yards receiving for 181 all-purpose yards.

Clemson Attack Improved

Clemson has improved its offensive numbers since returning to its 1995 offense prior to the Maryland game. Over the last four games, quarterback Brandon Streeter has completed 70-125 passes for 815 yards, 204 yards per game. That is a completion percentage of .560 for the four game period, which includes a game against Florida State, the number-two defense in the country. The Tigers have averaged 332.5 yards per game in total offense over the last four games compared to 276 yards a game in the first five contests.

One player who has been on a hot streak of late is Brian Wofford. The junior receiver has 25 receptions for 308 yards and two touchdowns over the last four games, six catches and 77 yards per game.

Clemson is now averaging 189 yards per game through the air and is completing .533 of its passes. This year's team is on pace to rank second in school history behind last year's squad in terms of passing yards per game. The 1997 Clemson team averaged 191.6 yards per game through the air, so this year's team is just two yards a game behind the pace set last year.

Zachery Nearing 500 Yards

Clemson freshman running back Travis Zachery needs just 12 rushing yards to reach the 500 mark for the season. He is trying to become just the second freshman in the 1990s to gain at least 500 yards on the ground in a season. Ronald Williams had 941 yards as a first-year freshman in 1990. The only freshman total that is higher is Terry Allen's 973 figure in 1987.

Zachery is Clemson's top rusher by 275 yards this season and is a virtual lock to lead the Tigers in 1998. He will become just the fourth freshman to lead Clemson in rushing since 1952. The others who have done it the last 46 years, or since the ACC was founded are Ken Callicutt (1974, 809 yards), Terry Allen (1987, 973 yards), Ronald Williams (1990, 941 yards) and Lamont Pegues (1994, 390 yards).

Austin Approaching Receiving Record

Travis Zachery is not the only Clemson running back chasing records. His running mate in the backfield, Javis Austin, is approaching the Clemson single season record for pass receptions by a running back. Austin has had at least one catch in every game this year and has a streak of 10 straight games with at least one catch, longest streak in Clemson history for a running back.

For the season, the former Daniel High (Clemson, SC) player has 19 receptions for 123 yards. The Clemson record for receptions by a running back in a season is 21, by Ray Yauger in 1969. The career record is 45 by Yauger and Raymond Priester. Austin now has 28 for his two year career.

November Has Been Good to Clemson

November has been a good month for Head Coach Tommy West and his Clemson teams. The Tigers are a combined 11-3 in the month under West, including a victory over Georgia Tech in 1994. Clemson was 3-1 in November last year, including the impressive 47-21 victory over South Carolina that earned the Tigers a bowl bid. Clemson has been outstanding in November for a long time. Since 1986, the Tigers are a combined 30-7-2 in the month of November.

McWhorter Coached at Georgia Tech

Clemson offensive line coach Mac McWhorter was an offensive line coach at Georgia Tech between 1980-86. He was the assistant head coach under Bill Curry in 1985 and 1986. He was an assistant for the Yellow Jackets when they defeated Clemson in Death Valley, 14-3 in 1985. The Yellow Jackets won nine games in that 1985 season. The only season better for Georgia Tech since 1985 was the 1990 campaign when it won the USA Today National Championship. He has been Clemson's offensive tackles and tight ends coach since 1996.

Clemson Plays First Thursday game on ESPN

Clemson and Georgia Tech will face off in a Thursday evening game on ESPN. This is Clemson's first appearance on the ESPN Thursday night game package. The Tigers are the last ACC team to appear. This is the first non-Saturday game for the Tigers since the 1982 season when Clemson played Georgia on a Monday evening, Labor Day night. Georgia won that contest that featured the 1981 National Champion against the 1980 National Champion.

Tonight's game will be Clemson's first Thursday game since 1963 when the Tigers met South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day. The contest was originally scheduled for the preceding Saturday, but was moved to Thanksgiving due to the death of President John F. Kennedy.

David Richardson

by Brian Hennessy

Think back to the 1980s when you bought a Tiger game program. Or maybe you had your face dotted with Tiger paws. It just might have been from David Richardson's hands. Fast forward 10 years to the present where Richardson is getting the job done with a different body part...his right leg.

Richardson grew up in the shadows of Death Valley and is living out his dream of donning the orange and white. He could practically touch his dream being that he lives half a mile from Death Valley.

He walked-on the Tiger team in 1994 and has become one of the most accurate field goal kickers in Clemson history, converting 23 of his 31 attempts. That is an inspirational accomplishment to all walk-ons. His nearly 75 percent field goal accuracy is also amazing considering the tradition Clemson has at the position, with the likes of David Treadwell, Chris Gardocki, Obed Ariri, Donald Igwebuike, and Nelson Welch.

"Growing up here all my life, I knew what it was like in Clemson," says Richardson. "My family didn't tailgate because we walked to the games. But I would come over early, and paint Tiger paws and sell programs. The reward was $7 a box and a ticket to the game."

Despite his dreams of one day playing in front of 80,000 fans at Death Valley, it appeared for a while that Richardson may be kicking a different kind of ball at Riggs Field, a soccer ball. He was a standout at nearby Daniel High School, where he lettered five times under Coach Andy Demori, a former Clemson soccer star in the late 60s.

"I got to be a ballboy for five years when Coach Ibrahim was here," recalls Richardson. "Seeing Clemson win two national championships in soccer drew me towards the sport. Soccer was my main sport all the way through high school. I even thought about walking-on at Clemson, but things just didn't work out."

Richardson saw his greatest opportunity kicking the oblong ball, thanks to the opportunity afforded to him on the Daniel football team. He never even kicked a football until the 10th grade, when Daniel Head Coach Allen Sitterle proposed the idea. In three seasons, Richardson kicked an amazing 154 PATs, a state record, and was 20-23 on field goals. He was the starting kicker when Daniel won the AAA State Championship as a sophomore and thanks to his last minute field goal against Wren High School in the Upperstate Championship game as a junior, Daniel went on to win its second state championship in as many seasons.

Success did not come as easily when he first came to Clemson. Richardson had walked-on and found the going tough initially. After sitting out his first season, his only action in 1995 came in the season opening win against Western Carolina, where he kicked an extra point and had one kickoff in the 55-9 win.

In the '96 season, Richardson appeared in six games, kicking off 16 times. He only had three field goal opportunities, converting two, and kicked an extra point. But that season almost never started. He was involved in a car accident while driving with long-time friend and Tiger teammate Deke Herrin, a month before the season. He had severe head trauma and temporary memory loss. Richardson wasn't himself for the next few weeks, but overcame his injuries in time for the season.

His breakout season came in 1997, while still a non-scholarship player. While other Tiger kickers struggled, Richardson came on to start for the first time at Maryland, the seventh game of the season, and was near perfect the rest of the season. He was 13 of 15 on field goals, including 10-10 inside the 40-yard line. His only two misses were both from 47 yards, with one of them being blocked. His performances against Maryland, Duke, and South Carolina earned him ACC Specialist-of-the-Week honors three times in the span of just five weeks. Richardson also booted 22 of his 56 kickoffs into the endzone for touchbacks.

His best moment of the season came at Wake Forest, a game where he was a perfect 4-4. One of those was from 52 yards. Not only did he split the uprights, he had at least 10 yards to spare.

Richardson finally received the reward for his hard work right before the 1998 Peach Bowl, a scholarship. This season, Richardson has converted eight of his 13 field goals, including a 4-4 performance in the season opener against Furman.

Richardson has taken his accomplishments in stride and tries not to take himself too seriously. "I'm a jokester," proclaims Richardson. "I try to keep things lighter. A lot of people kid me about acting immaturely, but that's just the way I am. I'm still a kid at heart."

"But when it's time for a game, it's all about business. Almost all of kicking is mental. I can tell you before I actually kick the ball if I'm going to make it. When I get distracted I miss it. So I go through a little routine where I visualize driving through the ball and seeing the ball go through the uprights."

Although Richardson's numbers have shown he is capable of kicking at the next level, he realizes how volatile a placekicker's life can be in the pros. And considering his 3.0 GPA in parks, recreation, and tourism management, one can see a bright future ahead.

"I've gotten involved in some extracurricular activities such as LIFELine, a football leadership program that raises money for local charities. I also coach eight-year old girls in Central on the side because I love working with kids," says Richardson. "I guess I can relate to them so well since I still feel so young."

"I really don't have a huge desire to be in the NFL. If I miss an extra point in the NFL, I'd be on the road the next day. But there is still a part of me that sees that as a challenge. After seeing (former Tiger placekicker) Jeff Sauve make the Redskins' squad after not playing for two seasons, I can't help but say 'what if'."

Richardson credits his parents, Jim and Sally, for the lessons he's learned growing up in a college town. Some of those lessons from his dad have been preached, literally. Jim is the minister at Fort Hill Presbyterian in downtown Clemson.

"A lot of people tell me that preachers' kids are the worst ones," says Richardson. "My older brother, John, who kicked here at Clemson for three seasons, is perfect. My younger sister, Anna, is perfect, and I'm the kid who was caught doing the wrong stuff. You can definitely say I'm a 'preacher's kid'."

Someone else that has literally been next door to Richardson since the seventh grade is Tiger red-shirt freshman center Kyle Young. "The four of us, John, Will (former Clemson offensive lineman), Kyle, and I, basically grew up together," says Richardson, one of six current Daniel High School graduates on the '98 team. "There were some heated football and basketball games between Will and Kyle, and John and I. It's fitting that all four of us ended up playing football right down the road from where we live."

Now that Richardson is writing the final chapter on his long and winding road from high school-hero to virtual obscurity as a freshman back to prominence, it will be time for a new Tiger to fill his shoes. And it just might happen that his journey will be a model for another kid roaming the grounds before another Saturday in the Valley.

President Dr. Deno Curris

Constantine W. "Deno" Curris began his fourth year at the helm of Clemson University with a heightened sense of optimism and determination - and for good reason. Not only had he won a personal battle against cancer; he also had succeeded in building consensus among faculty, staff, students, and trustees about the University's direction for the future.

That direction is spelled out in a new mission statement and a set of implementing concepts adopted by the Board of Trustees at Curris' request earlier this year. The president's personal contribution was a statement of Clemson's vision: To be the nation's premier land-grant university.

No small order, but Curris believes the faculty, staff, students, alumni, and friends are up to the task. Speaking at the spring general faculty meeting, Curris outlined areas where Clemson needs to excel in order to achieve its potential. He challenged the University to:

- Increase access to Clemson without compromising academic standards, working to raise achievement at the middle and high school levels;
- Provide an educational experience second to none, bridging the gap between research and teaching;
- Create a distinctive core curriculum built around liberal arts and sciences, and emphasizing communication ability, critical thinking, ethical judgment, global awareness, scientific knowledge, and technological understanding;
- Expand research activity, particularly in areas where the University can achieve national and international distinction.

"Clemson's size and its rich tradition of faculty-student interaction give us decided advantage to become the nation's premier land-grant university," he said. "We have never embraced the concept of feedlot education, and we have benefited from a physical setting that permits the reinforcement of the curricular by the co-curricular. If there is a will to be the best, we can be."

Curris is not one to shrink from difficult challenges. After successful tenures as president at two other universities - Murray State in Kentucky and Northern Iowa - Curris quickly began to make his mark at Clemson. Progress has been made during his administration on a number of fronts: Expanding the University's information technology infrastructure, enhancing the sense of community and appreciation for traditions that add to the Clemson experience, and involving more alumni and friends in the life of the University through initiatives such as the Commission on the Future of Clemson University - a comprehensive advisory group involving more than 200 leaders in business and the professions.

A native of Lexington, Kentucky, Curris received a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Kentucky, a master's in political science and public administration from the University of Illinois, and a doctorate in higher education from the University of Kentucky.

Curris is also a national leader in higher education. He is a past Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and was a featured participant in a 1997 national video teleconference on "The New Public University: How Do We Compete in a Changing Environment?" Curris is also one of 25 presidents currently serving on the national Kellogg Commission on the Future of Land-Grant Universities and is South Carolina's representative on the Commission on the Future of the South.

When his schedule permits, Curris enjoys gardening, fishing, and reading. He is married to Jo Hern Curris, a tax attorney and author, and they have a son, Robert Alexander, and a daughter, Elena Diane.

Head Coach Tommy West

Tommy West's Clemson resume as a head coach includes four bowl appearances, a top 25 ranking in every season, 12 road wins and four wins over AP Top 25 teams. The 1998 Peach Bowl was Clemson's third straight year in a bowl game, something only 16 other programs can claim. This is the first time since the 1985-91 era, that Clemson has been to a bowl game three straight years and he is just the second Clemson coach in history to take the Tigers to three consecutive bowl games.

Each of his first four seasons has seen the Tigers make a late season run. In 1994, with the youngest offense in Clemson history, one that started seven freshmen at times, the Tigers won three of their last four games, including a victory at 12th ranked North Carolina.

The run of success at the end of the 1995 season had the Tigers in the top 25 of every poll. Clemson won its last five regular season games, including four wins by at least 17 points. West's Tigers were picked fifth in the ACC preseason poll that year, but, thanks to the third best offense in Clemson history and a defense that ranked 10th in the nation in scoring, Clemson finished third in the ACC standings with a 6-2 record, its best league finish since the Tigers won the ACC title in 1991.

The 1995 campaign was one in which Clemson excelled in every area. The Tigers ranked fourth in the country in rushing, yet also led the ACC in yards per pass attempt. Defensively, Clemson rated in the top 20 in the nation in rushing defense, passing efficiency defense and turnover margin. In terms of special teams, Clemson was the only school in the nation to have an individual ranked in the top 25 in punting, placekicking, punt returns and kickoff returns.

The 1996 season saw Clemson win five of its last six regular season games, including a victory at 15th ranked Virginia, just the third road win over a ranked team in the decade of the 1990s for the Tigers. For the second straight year Clemson won the ACC rushing title and reached a top 25 ranking. Again, Clemson won 75 percent of its ACC games, this time finishing tied for second in the league standings with North Carolina. The Tigers were extended a bid to the Peach Bowl to face LSU.

Last season the Tigers won four of their last five regular season games, including a 47-21 victory over South Carolina in the season finale that clinched a bowl bid.

The season featured a record setting passing attack, led by Nealon Greene, who set season records for pass completions, passing yards and completion percentage. The defense followed suit, led by first-team AP All-American Anthony Simmons, who led the conference in tackles and tackles for loss. Clemson's defense ranked in the top 20 in the nation in rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense and ranked third in the ACC in pass defense.

Clemson's improvement on the field is matched with its improvement in the classroom during the West era. In 1996-97, 20 Clemson football players made the ACC academic honor roll, the highest on record. In fact, each of the three highest totals in that area in Clemson history have taken place under West and the team's cumulative GPA entering 1998 is a 20-year high.

West took over the head coaching position on November 29, 1993. Less than a month later he already had a bowl victory on his ledger, a 14-13 triumph over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl, Clemson's sixth bowl win in an eight-year period. With his debut in the Peach Bowl, West became the sixth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

West was a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89. During West's first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top 12 in the nation in total defense.

Clemson's 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West's outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year all played in the NFL in 1994. The list of former West players in the NFL includes Levon Kirkland and Wayne Simmons, both of whom have played in the Super Bowl in recent years.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the 1980 and 1981 seasons he served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State.

After his career at Clemson (1982-89), West became the running backs coach at Tennessee. During that 1990 season Tennessee won the Southeastern Conference and captured the Sugar Bowl with a win over Virginia. The Volunteers scored a school record 442 points that year and averaged over 410 yards a game in total offense, 205.7 rushing and 205.4 passing. He served as Co-Defensive Coordinator at South Carolina in 1991 and 1992.

In 1993 West took over a UT-Chattanooga team that had won just two games in 1992. He doubled that total in 1993 and guided the Mocs to one of the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman. Ironically, his first regular season game as Clemson coach was a victory over Furman.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in the final Top 20 poll in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee's 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

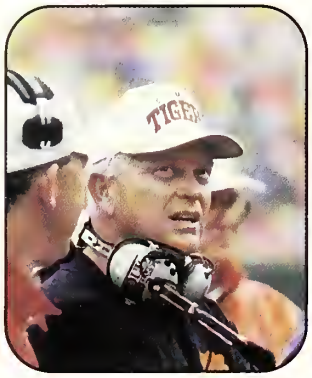
He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yard pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor's degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year. West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielder in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a second-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an All-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the regular phase of the June 1972 draft. He played his prep football at Gainesville High in Gainesville, GA for Coach Bobby Gruhn. He was an all-state back as a junior and was also named to the All-Southern team. Born Thomas Cleveland West on July 31, 1954, he is married to the former Lindsay Watkins of Forest City, NC. The couple has one son, Turner.

The West Family

Assistant Coaches

LES HERRIN
Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Line



Les Herrin is the dean of football coaches at Clemson. The assistant head coach is in his 14th season with the Tigers. In addition to his administrative duties as assistant head coach, he is the Clemson defensive line coach. Herrin has been a defensive coach at Clemson for all but one of his seasons and has coached such notable players as Chester McGlockton, Brentson Buckner, Jeff Davis and Trevor Pryce.

The 50-year old native of Waycross, GA, is the only member of the current staff who was on Clemson's 1981 National Championship coaching staff. That season Herrin coached linebacker Jeff Davis who went on to be captain of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and is a member of Clemson's prestigious Ring of Honor.

In 1982, Johnny Rembert was a starting linebacker under Herrin and he became an All-American, then a Pro Bowl player (1989) with the New England Patriots. Three-time Pro Bowl defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, regarded as one of the top defensive players in the NFL today, was coached by Herrin between 1989-91.

Brentson Buckner, a 1996 Super Bowl participant with the Pittsburgh Steelers, who is now with the San Francisco 49ers, also played for Herrin during that era. Last year as a rookie, Trevor Pryce was a member of the Denver Broncos Super Bowl Championship team. Under Herrin's tutelage at Clemson, Pryce led the Tigers in tackles for loss and sacks in 1996.

In his previous 13 seasons with Clemson, Herrin has coached in eight bowl games, been a part of six top 20 seasons and four ACC titles. Clemson has had at least one all-conference player coached by Herrin in 12 of the 13 years he has been with the program.

Herrin and his wife Shirley have a son, Deke, who is currently a student at Clemson and a member of the football team.

STEVE ENSMINGER
Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

Steve Ensminger enters his second season as Clemson's offensive coordinator. In his first year, Ensminger directed the Tiger offense in establishing 15 school single season records in the passing game on a team and individual basis, included in the marks were school bests for passing yardage, completion percentage, and completions.

Nealon Greene ranked 19th in the nation in passing efficiency, highest ranking by a Clemson player in 14 years.

Ensminger came to Clemson after a three-year stint at Texas A&M and is now in his 11th year as an offensive coordinator.

While at Texas A&M, his Aggie offense averaged 404 yards per game in 1996 and it featured a balanced attack of 230 yards rushing and 174 passing.

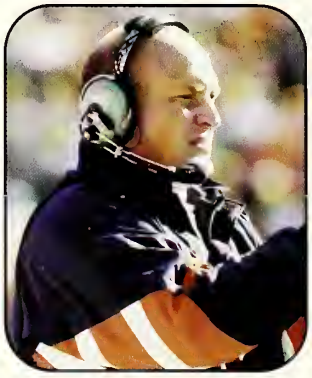
Ensminger is a native of Baton Rouge, LA and played for hometown LSU from 1976-79 as quarterback where he lettered all four years. He was the MVP of the LSU team in 1979 and still holds two LSU passing records: most touchdowns in a game (4) and longest touchdown pass play (82 yards).

The 39-year-old has coached at Nicholls State (Wide Receivers, 1981-83), McNeese State (Quarterbacks/Wide Receivers, 1984-87), Louisiana Tech (Offensive Coordinator, 1988-90), Georgia (passing game Coordinator/Quarterbacks, 1991-93), and Texas A&M (Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks, 1994-96).

Ensminger was a significant reason Georgia quarterback Eric Zeier set 61 school and 11 SEC passing records between 1991-93. Georgia ranked ninth in the nation in total offense in 1992 with a 450.4 yards per game average. The team was 10th in the country in scoring with 32 points per game.

Ensminger is married to the former Amy Marie Gonzales and they have three children: Krystalin, Steve, and Brittany Rose.

REGGIE HERRING
Defensive Coor./Inside Linebackers



Reggie Herring enters the 1998 season, his fifth at Clemson, as the inside linebackers coach and is in his second year performing the duties of defensive coordinator.

In his first year as Clemson defensive coordinator the Tigers ranked 16th in the nation in total defense, sixth in rushing defense and 18th in scoring defense. Herring coached Anthony Simmons each of the last three seasons at Clemson. Simmons, a three-time All-American, was a first-round pick of the Seattle Seahawks in the 1998 NFL draft.

Herring himself was an outstanding player during his days as a linebacker at Florida State. He graduated from Florida State with a B.S. in criminology in 1981, but before graduating he was a three-year starter for the Seminoles and was voted an AP All-American in 1980. Florida State posted a 38-6 record in his four years and made three bowl trips. He played on three Seminole teams that finished the season with a top 15 AP ranking, including a number-six finish in 1979 and a number-five finish in 1980. Those were the first two top 10 finishes in the Bobby Bowden era at FSU.

Herring was inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame in 1989. He combined with current Clemson wide receivers coach Rick Stockstill to lead the Seminoles to the 1981 Orange Bowl, a narrow defeat against Oklahoma. Herring also displayed leadership skills during his playing days as he served as the team captain in 1980.

As a coach, Herring has been a part of successful programs at Oklahoma State, Auburn, TCU and now Clemson.

Since 1977, Herring has participated in college football as either a player or a coach. Since that year he has been a part of 16 bowl teams, three as a player and 13 as a coach, including four bowl games for the Tigers, the 1993 Peach, the 1996 Gator, the 1996 and 1998 Peach.

Herring is married to the former Lisa Ward of Griffin, GA. The couple has one daughter Caroline, and one son, Adam.

DAVID BIBEE
Defensive Backs

David Bibee is in his second year at Clemson, and is coaching his second different position. This season Bibee takes over the secondary, perhaps the most talented area on the Clemson team with preseason All-American Antwan Edwards. Bibee is no stranger to the secondary as he has coached that aspect of the defense at six different schools during his career.

Last year he coached Clemson outside linebackers, a group that helped the Tigers rank sixth in the nation in rushing defense and 16th in total defense.

The 1998 season marks Bibee's 19th year of coaching college football. He has 11 years experience as an assistant head coach.

Bibee played football at Tennessee and was a member of the 1973 Gator Bowl and 1974 Liberty Bowl teams. During two of his playing seasons he was a teammate of Tiger Head Coach Tommy West. He earned a B.S. in Health Education from Tennessee in 1977.

He began his coaching career with the Volunteers as a graduate assistant coach in 1976. He then spent the 1977 season at his prep alma mater, Bristol's Tennessee High School, before moving on to Mississippi for one campaign as co-head coach of the junior varsity squad in 1978. Following his stay at Mississippi, Bibee had coaching stints at North Alabama, Middle Tennessee State, Austin Peay, Appalachian State and South Carolina.

During his six years at Appalachian State, the Mountaineers won two Southern Conference championships and twice led the nation in turnover margin.

Bibee left Appalachian State in 1989 to become assistant head coach and secondary coach at South Carolina. After the 1993 season, he went into private business before returning to college football as Tennessee Tech's secondary coach and recruiting coordinator in 1996.

A native of Bristol, TN, Bibee is married to the former Lisa Carter. The couple has three daughters, twins, Ashlee and Allison, and Lindsay.

RICH BISACCIA
Running Backs

Clemson has been on a record pace in terms of rushing offense since Rich Bisaccia came to Clemson in December of 1993. Each of the last three years Clemson has finished first or second in the ACC in rushing, including a number-four national finish in 1995 when Clemson averaged 260 yards per game.

Under Bisaccia, tailback Raymond Priester set the Clemson all-time records for single game rushing yards, 263, rushing yards in a season, 1,345, and most rushing yards in a career with 3,966. He was the ACC rushing champion in 1995. In all, Priester established 18 Clemson rushing records during his career under Bisaccia.

Bisaccia wears many hats at Clemson as he also handles the special teams and serves as the recruiting coordinator. His special teams unit was the only one in the nation to have an individual rank in the top 25 in field goals, punting, punt returns, and kickoff returns in 1995.

A year ago Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in kickoff returns and 39th in punt returns. The Tigers had three blocked punts in the Peach Bowl to set a school record. Clemson also led the ACC in field goals (20-27) in 1997.

Bisaccia graduated from New Fairfield High School in New Fairfield, CT. He earned his degree in health and physical education from Yankton College in 1983. While at Yankton College, Bisaccia was a four-year starter and the team captain from 1979-82. The Philadelphia Stars of the USFL signed him as a free agent in 1983.

Bisaccia's first coaching job was as the offensive coordinator at Wayne State (NE) in 1983. After five years at Wayne State, he moved to South Carolina for a six-year career. In 1989, Bisaccia became the volunteer assistant coach for defensive ends at South Carolina. In 1991, he was named the tight ends coach, then was promoted to running backs coach and special teams coach at South Carolina in 1992. He held that role for the 1992 and 1993 seasons. Clemson came calling in December of 1993 and named Bisaccia as its running backs coach, and in charge of special teams and the recruiting process.

Bisaccia married the former Jeanne Jones. The native of Yonkers, NY and his wife have four children: Michele, Elizabeth, Madeline, and Richard Oakley.

BRICK HALEY
Outside Linebackers

Andrea "Brick" Haley takes over the outside linebacker coaching duties in his first season with the Tiger program.

Haley will coach perhaps the most famous position in contemporary Clemson football history. The Tigers have had many outside linebackers move on to the NFL in the decade of the 1990s, including Levon Kirkland an All-Pro for the Pittsburgh Steelers and Wayne Simmons, a starter for the Green Bay Packers 1996 Super Bowl Champions.

Haley himself has a history of recruiting and coaching players who have gone on to the NFL. The list of players Haley has coached include Jeff Gooch, a starter with the Tampa Bay Bucs in 1997, and Pratt Lyons, a starter with the Tennessee Oilers. Reggie Lowe, who signed with the Seattle Seahawks out of Troy State, and Donnell Gilyard, who played with the New York Giants are two more Haley protégés. Michael Swift of the Carolina Panthers, and Kurt Pointer of the Pittsburgh Steelers were both recruited to Austin Peay by Haley.

Haley, a native of Gadsden, AL, attended Alabama A&M. He graduated from A&M in 1989 after playing for the Bulldogs for four seasons. There he was a Division II All-America inside linebacker in 1987 and 1988. Haley earned a bachelor of science in health and physical education with a minor in telecommunication.

His coaching career began in 1989 when he was a student assistant coach at Alabama A&M. The next year, he coached tight ends and coordinated the punt and punt return teams at Enterprise High School in Enterprise, AL.

In 1991, he began his four-year stay at Austin Peay State. After three years with the Troy State program, Haley served as outside linebackers coach at Houston in 1997 before arriving in Tigertown.

Haley, a native of Gadsden, AL, is married to the former Tina Delaine of Clayton, NC.

JOHN LATINA
Centers and Guards

John Latina is in his fifth season at Clemson, as the offensive centers and guards coach. Since taking over the most inexperienced offensive line in Clemson history in 1994, the unit has steadily improved and helped rewrite many of Clemson's individual and team offensive records.

The 1997 line was an integral part of a Clemson team that established six team records in offensive categories. Each of the last three years Clemson has been first or second in the ACC in rushing and Latina's line is a big reason Raymond Priester set the Clemson career rushing record in just three seasons.

Latina received four letters as an offensive lineman at Virginia Tech from 1975-78 and played in Death Valley for the Hokies in 1978. He earned his bachelor's degree in 1979.

Latina's coaching career began immediately after his playing days were over. In 1979, he was an assistant coach at his alma mater in Blacksburg. He then moved to Pittsburgh for the 1982 season where he worked with an outstanding Panther team quarterbacked by Dan Marino.

In 1983, Latina was named as the offensive line coach at Temple. Following his stay at Temple, Latina went out west to Manhattan, KS, to coach Kansas State. His offensive line helped to lead the Wildcats in 1993 to the Big Eight title in passing, averaging 245 yards per game. In 1991, Kansas State set a school record with 4,231 yards in total offense, including 1,756 yards rushing, the most by a Kansas State team in 10 years.

Latina arrived at Clemson as the offensive line coach in December of 1993. He has already coached the Tigers in four bowl games, the 1993 Peach, the 1996 Gator, the 1996 and 1998 Peach Bowl.

Latina and his wife, the former Michele Veltre, have two sons John Jr. and Michael.

MAC McWHORTER
Tight Ends and Tackles

Mac McWhorter enters his third year at Clemson as the offensive tackles and tight ends coach. McWhorter, 48, and a native of Atlanta, GA, shares the duties of the offensive line with coach John Latina. McWhorter deserves much of the credit for Jim Bundren's 1997 All-America season.

Bundren was a two-time All-ACC choice on the field and in the classroom under McWhorter. The Tigers led the ACC in rushing in 1996 and ranked second in 1997 and McWhorter's work with the line had much to do with an offense that showed steady improvement.

McWhorter spent five years as the offensive line coach at Georgia before coming to Clemson. During his five years in Athens the Bulldogs set school records in many categories including a record 25 touchdown passes and 5,135 yards of total offense in 1994.

He was a three-year letter-winner at Georgia as an offensive player. As a player, McWhorter had success both on and off the field, as he was an All-Academic Southeastern Conference performer in 1972 and 1973 and owned the highest grade point average on the Georgia football team in 1973.

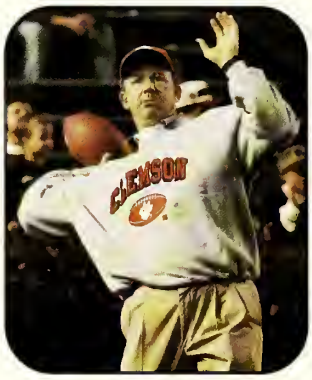
McWhorter began his coaching career as an assistant coach on the high school level. He was the head coach at Villa Rica High in Georgia in 1979, where he was named Carroll County Coach-of-the Year.

McWhorter jumped to the college ranks in 1980, when he was named to the Georgia Tech coaching staff. Since joining the college coaching profession at Georgia Tech, he has had coaching stints at Alabama, West Georgia, Duke, Georgia and Clemson.

Altogether McWhorter has coached in eight bowls during his 18-year coaching career.

McWhorter and wife Rebecca have three children: Kasay, Katie, and Mac.

RICK STOCKSTILL
Wide Receivers



Rick Stockstill is in his 10th consecutive season at Clemson as an assistant coach. He has experience as a wide receivers and quarterbacks coach at Clemson. His contributions in terms of on-field coaching and recruiting are significant reasons Clemson has been to bowl games in seven of his nine seasons with the program.

Stockstill has had a positive effect on the Clemson passing game over the years. In 1997, his receiving corps set school records for receptions and reception yardage. Leading the way was Biletnikoff Award semifinalist Tony Horne, who had a record 70 receptions and record tying eight touchdowns.

Stockstill graduated from Fernandina Beach High School in Fernandina Beach, FL, in 1977. After graduating from Florida State in 1982 with a B.S. degree in physical education, he immediately went into coaching.

As a member of Bobby Bowden's first recruiting class, Stockstill was the starting quarterback on a pair of Orange Bowl teams, a pair of top 10 rankings, and was the team captain in 1981.

Although Stockstill never played a game in Death Valley, his brother, Jeff, played for the Tigers from 1979-82 and was a key reserve on the national championship team.

Before coming to Clemson, Stockstill was an assistant coach at Bethune Cookman (1983-84) and Central Florida (1985-88).

In his first year (1989) as quarterbacks coach at Clemson, he helped lead Clemson to a single-season record for completion percentage (60%). In 1991, the offense led by DeChane Cameron, the all-time winningest quarterback in Clemson history in terms of percentage, led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense. He also co-coordinated the #6 offense in Clemson history in 1995.

Stockstill is married to the former Sara Fleischman. The couple has one son, Brent, and one daughter, Emily.

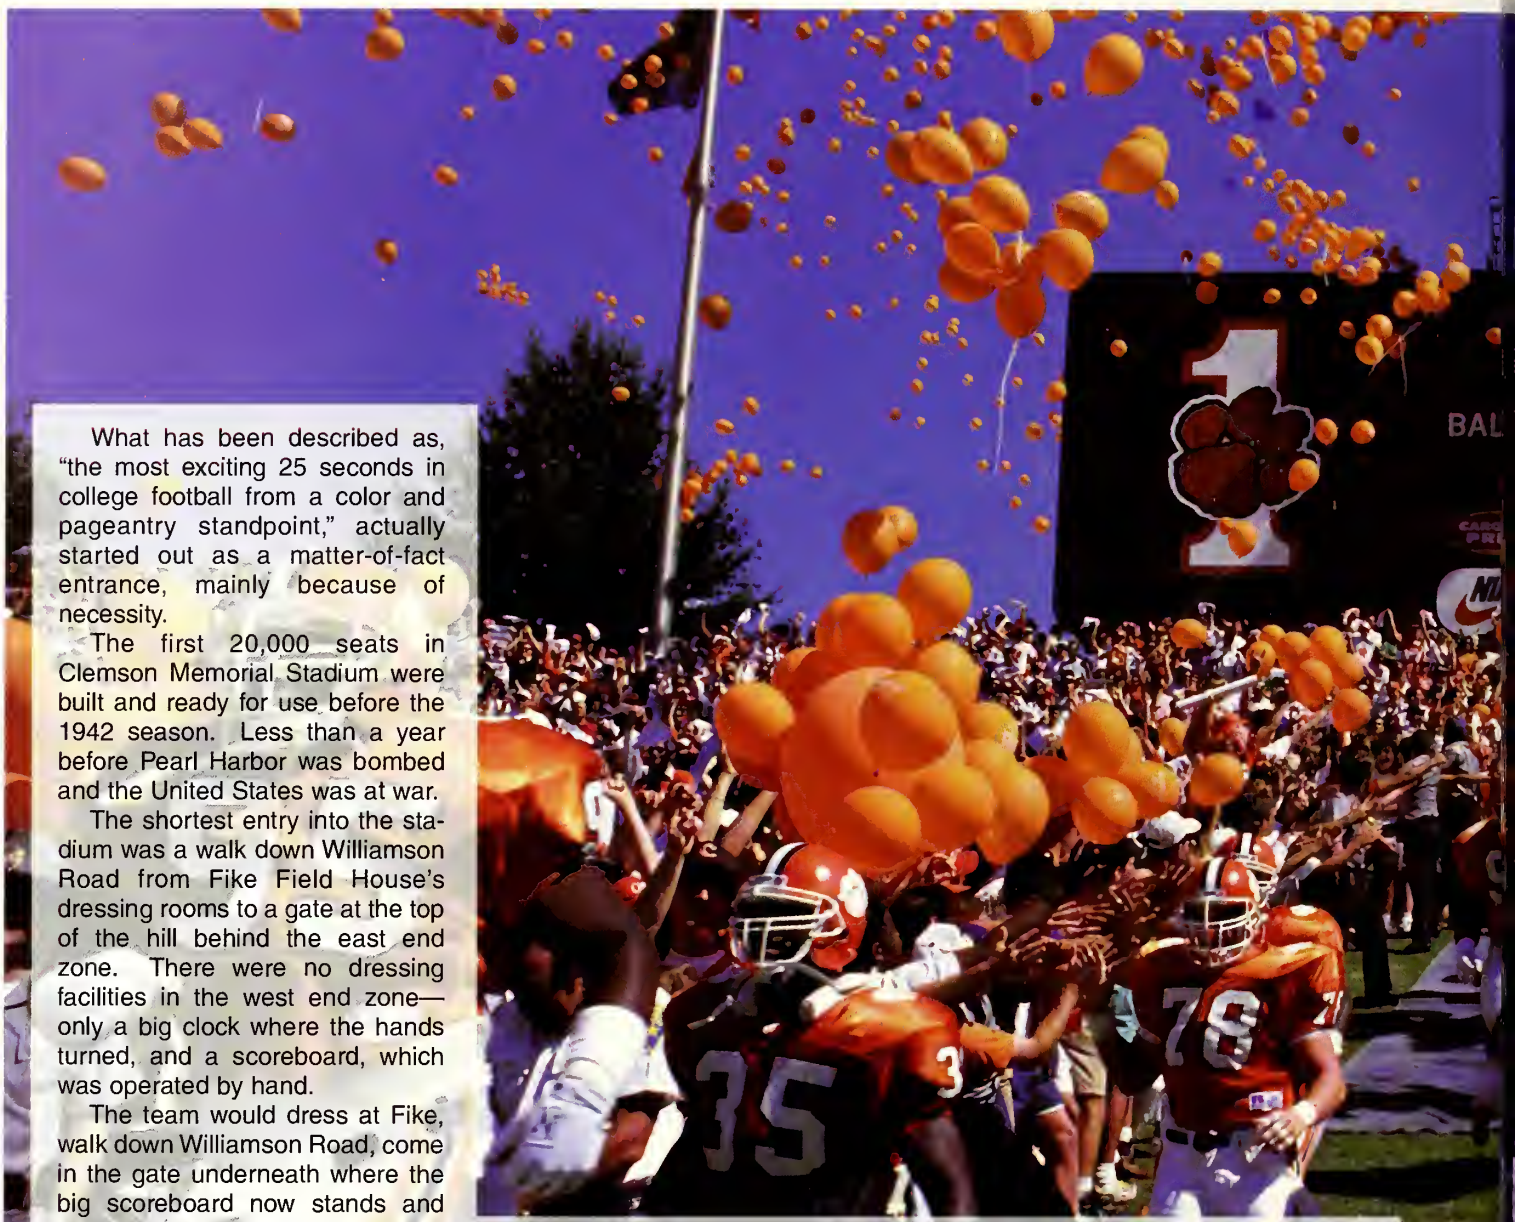
Running Down the Hill



What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard, which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. Afterall, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shut outs in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—261 times heading into the 1998 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west end zone stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag'...The frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

THE NAME SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

Clemson Traditions

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton, SC. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at "Death Valley" because his teams always got killed. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard started calling it that in the 50s, the term really caught on. It is now in its 57th year.

Many people think the name is derived from the fact that there rests a cemetery outside the fence on the press box side of the stadium. But, although it would make sense, the name was first coined by McMillian.

First Friday Parade

The Clemson football season kicks off each year with the annual First Friday Parade. The once a year event takes place on the Friday afternoon prior to the first home football game. Floats from various fraternities and sororities and other campus organizations are represented in the parade that rolls down highway 93 in front of the President's house in Clemson. The parade culminates at the Amphitheater in the middle of campus where the first Pep Rally of the year takes place.

The Grand Marshall of the Parade is featured at the Pep Rally. Recent Grand Marshalls have ranged from former PGA professional Dillard Pruitt, to College Football Hall of Fame legends Jess Neely and Frank Howard, to noted television announcers Brent Musberger and Ara Parseghian.

Homecoming

Clemson holds a classic homecoming every year. Displays by fraternities and sororities that are months in the making, are built on Bowman Field the week prior to Homecoming weekend. It is an event that draws alumni and friends of Clemson from all over the country.

The Friday evening prior to the game, Tigerama is held in Death Valley, which is an event that attracts over 35,000 fans. It is widely known as the largest pep rally in the world. The Homecoming Queen and her court are presented in addition to Homecoming skits, a pep rally, and a large and loud fireworks display.

The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on September 30, 1922 when Clemson met Centre. Clemson has a 53-18-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .736 winning percentage, and has outscored the opposition 1,555-976 in those previous 74 games. The average margin of victory is 21 to 13. Clemson has been especially successful on Homecoming in recent years, posting a 23-2-2 record since 1970.

Orange Pants

The tradition of the Clemson team wearing orange pants is new according to tradition standards. The Tigers first wore the all orange uniform for the final game of the 1980 season against South Carolina. Clemson upset the 14th ranked Gamecocks and Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, 27-6. The victory set the stage for Clemson's National Championship run of 1981.

Overall, Clemson is 31-9 in orange pants since that 1980 game, including an 18-2 record in games played in the month of November. The Tigers had an eight-game winning streak in orange pants snapped in the 1996 Peach Bowl against Louisiana State. Clemson has nine wins over top 20 opponents when wearing orange pants, including the 22-15 National Championship clinching win over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl.

Rock, Howard's

When the Clemson team gathers to run down "The Hill", the players first rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones '19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, for a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. In that game, the Tigers rallied from 18 points down with 17 minutes to play. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warm-up, the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 PM game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played, and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971, and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 261 times heading into 1998.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation. It used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942, the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium.

In 1996, the Clemson University athletic department agreed to have University Netcasting, better known as FANSONLY, post its official athletic website on the world wide web. Since that time, Clemson fans have been able to access up to the minute information on all of Clemson's varsity sports at the internet address www.clemsontigers.com.

This upcoming school year should prove to be another exciting season at clemsontigers.com. In early September the site took on a fresh design. In an effort to give the Clemson site its own unique image, the people at FANSONLY and Clemson have worked over the summer to make the site more appealing to you, the fan. In addition to cosmetic changes at clemsontigers.com there will be some new features.

Some of the highlights for this season from clemsontigers.com are live game stats and live audio coverage for every football game. If you can't make it to the game, don't worry, with our real-time stats and live game coverage you'll be able to follow every single snap from the comforts of your home computer. Our Associated Press wire feed will automatically post the game story minutes after the contest has concluded. In addition to the game recap, fans will be able to check out actual video highlights of the game.

Not only will you have more information than those Monday morning quarterbacks, but you'll have more access than ever before to Clemson football. Fans will be able to hear clips from Tommy West's post-game interviews as well as be able to listen live to the ACC Football Coach's Teleconference every Wednesday throughout the season.

Football isn't the only sport covered by clemsontigers.com; you can get comprehensive coverage on all of Clemson's 19 varsity sports. Check out the latest release on the women's soccer team, view the game recaps from men's soccer, or find your favorite volleyball player's biography. Clemsontigers.com is expanding its coverage of Tiger Olympic sports to include more action photos, audio clips from players and coach's and video highlights.

As the official athletic website for Clemson University athletics, clemsontigers.com is the only place to go for all of your Clemson sports information. From live audio broadcasts to video highlight clips to late breaking news, clemsontigers.com has you covered.

Fans will be able to access the ACC's weekly Football Teleconference on Wednesdays and hear Coach West's comments as well as other coaches from around the ACC.

Stadium Information

SEASON TICKET HOLDERS/OTHER VISITORS: Season ticket holders and other visitors to the stadium are requested to enter Gates 1, 5, 9, 11, or 13. Persons with top deck tickets must enter the stadium via the ramps, which are located behind the North and South Stands. Ramp entrances are adjacent to Gates 1 and 13 on the South side and Gates 5 and 9 on the North side.

HANDICAPPED: Special entrances have been provided at Gates 1, 5 and 13 for the handicapped.

WILL-CALL: Will-call tickets can be picked up at the ticket office at Gate 9.

PASS-OUT HAND STAMPS: Pass-out hand stamps will be available at Gates 1, 5, 7, 9, 11, and 13 and the top decks. Any person leaving the stadium other than with a team pass must have his or her hands stamped, as well as admittance stub, to be readmitted to the stadium.

Gates 4, 6 and 8 are closed prior to the games and are opened for exit purposes only.

TELEPHONE: Pay telephones are located at the stadium ticket offices at Gates 1, 5, 9, 13, top decks.

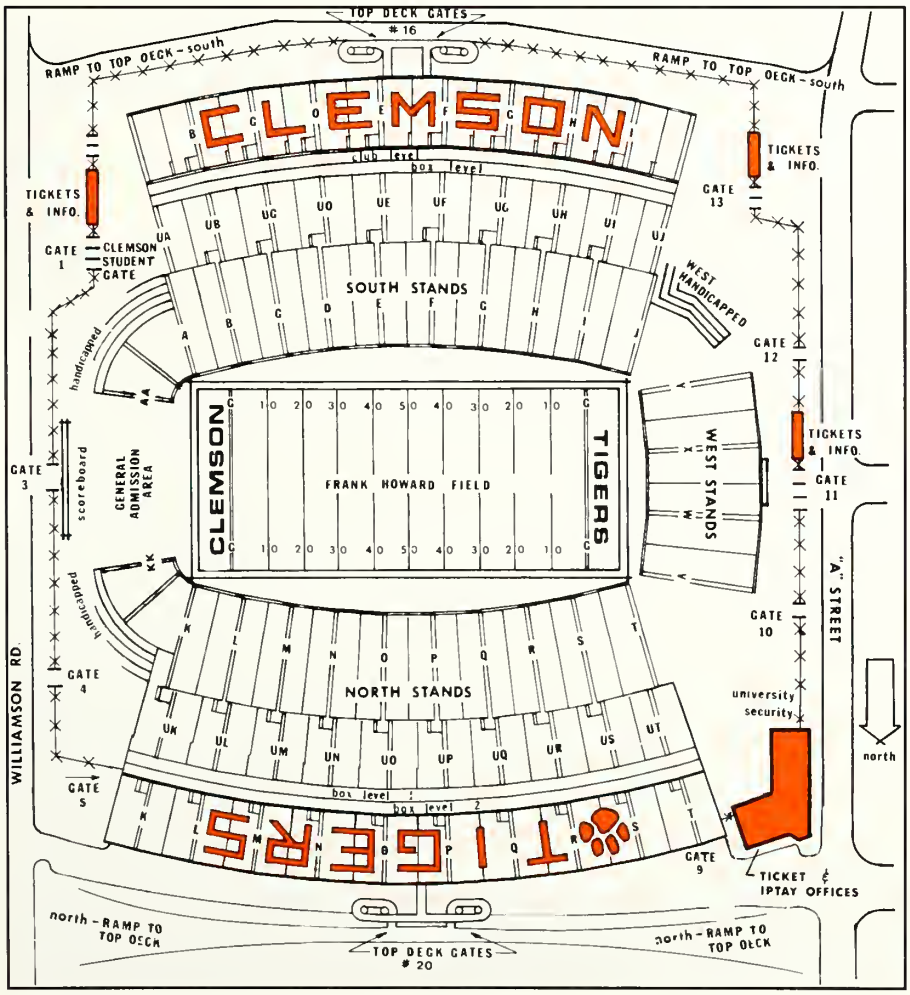
PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM: The public address system is intended primarily for spectators' information concerning the game. Please do not request the use of the public address system to make social contacts.

RESTROOMS: Ladies' and men's restrooms are located between the stands and can be reached by exit from portal.

LOST & FOUND: If any article is lost or found, please report it to the Gate 1 or Gate 10 information booths.

CONCESSION STANDS: Concession stands are located beneath all stands and can be reached from any portal.

PROHIBITED ITEMS: The following items are prohibited in Memorial Stadium: umbrellas, folding chairs, chaise lounges, food and beverage containers of any type, alcoholic beverages, thermos jugs, and ice chests.



NOTICE: Solicitation for any purpose is prohibited at an athletic contest in Clemson Memorial Stadium.

EMERGENCIES

First Aid stations are located at the following places: South Side—Under Section J; North Side—Under Section T; North Top Deck—Under Section K; South Top Deck—Under Section E.

Trained nurses are on hand during each game. Should a doctor be needed, ask any usher, who knows the seat location of doctors. Ambulances are located at Gates 1, 5, 8, and 13.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE: Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry.

INSECT STINGS: Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK: The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two or more minutes.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL: Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

EMERGENCY CALLS: Emergency calls are received in the Security Booth.

THE STADIUM EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBER IS (864) 656-2999.

IPTAY

IPTAY is widely regarded nationally as the father of Athletic Fundraising. It all started in 1934 and from a private meeting of a small group of Clemson supporters has sprung into an organization that raised a record $9,143,045 last year. The organization plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

The organization also has helped finance facilities that contribute to the well-being of student-athletes on and off the field. Vickery Hall is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. It is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have had their highest cumululative GPA on record for five consecutive semesters.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson, currently helping over 30 students at Clemson.

IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett has continued to keep Clemson among the best in the nation in terms of fund-raising by the establishment of the IPTAY Endowment Program. In April of 1994, he kicked off the beginning of the endowment of positions program at the 85th birthday celebration for former Clemson Coach Frank Howard. The endowments are secure with a $100,000 donation paid over a five-year period.

"This is a chance to broaden the horizons of IPTAY," said Bennett. "It gives an individual or a group of people an opportunity to endow a position that meant something during their college days, or to honor a person at a position. The money being endowed is going to secure our future as the interest is used to carry on our program forever."

The first endowment was for the head football coach position to honor the legendary Frank Howard. Howard coached football at Clemson 39 years, 30 as the head coach. During his tenure the Tigers won 165 games, 100 of which were against conference foes. "Former players and friends of Coach Howard made donations over the cost of attending the celebration program and that was enough for the endowment. Their gifts were a way of permanently thanking Coach Howard for all that he did for Clemson.

"Following Coach Howard's birthday party we began to look for an individual to help us support and promote the program and Bill Hudson's name came up. He was an outstanding player at Clemson who has been equally successful in the business world. We went to him and explained the program and its goals and that we were looking for his leadership to help get the program going, and he accepted."

Hudson, a 1956 graduate, was a three-year letter winner at tackle who played professionally for the Montreal Alouettes, the San Diego Chargers, and the Boston Patriots. He earned Pro Bowl honors in 1962. Mr. Hudson sees this program growing into a large part of Clemson's athletic funding. "When other people see information on the endowment program and learn what it is about this program will grow. Success builds on success. People who are looking to honor a friend or family member now have a great means to do that."

Besides the Hudson's family endowment four other football endowments were made and one manager's position in the first year. Now there are over 50 positions endowed. The goal of the program is to get every position endowed. "From the free safety to the number-three player in women's tennis, we hope to have every position endowed," said Bennett.

"We will likely use the Avenue of Champions as a physical place to honor these people further for the positions they have endowed. That will have plenty of space, so we will be working to have as many endowments across all of our sports.

"The personal satisfaction that they helped Clemson University, specifically the Athletic department, and that they are securing its future are the main reasons for becoming involved."

And with more involvement Clemson will have a very secure future for generations to come.

Strength Training

Clemson fans look forward to seeing tough, hard-nosed football when they come to Death Valley or travel to other schools to watch their Tigers in action. But some of the Tigers' most intense competition and action doesn't take place on autumn Saturday's and it doesn't take place on a field. Take a peek into the Clemson Strength Training Room at almost any time of day, almost any day of the week, at any time of the year, and you will see the Tigers building the foundation for their pursuit of a championship.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, it was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. Two years ago, it was expanded to 14,000 square feet. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several other different sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

Within the last year the dumbell area and leg strength area were expanded and the facility saw the addition of the Austin Leg Drive Machine.

The plush atmosphere provides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place in the facility. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Four color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction.

The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game.

Recently, the operation of the strength training facility was enhanced by the addition of a new computerized program. Tiger strength coaches are now able to enter all the current strength data on an athlete, and the computer will generate a 10-week conditioning program that will help the athlete reach optimum results.

Shawn Crawford

by Julie Prince Paré

Rarely does an athlete go from being an unknown to being a national champion, especially in just one year. But Clemson junior Shawn Crawford accomplished the feat last season as a part of the men's track and field team.

"My freshman year was a transition year from high school," said Crawford, "because I didn't practice a lot in high school. I had to get used to practicing and learning a lot of technical things. My sophomore year I had to apply the technical things I had learned."

An All-ACC performer during the indoor season last year, Crawford won the 60-meter dash in a personal-best 6.66 seconds at the ACC Championships, helping the Tigers to their second-consecutive ACC Indoor Championship. His time was the second-fastest in Clemson history.

Crawford was the runner-up in the 200-meters at the ACC Championships with a time of 20.87. North Carolina senior Milton Campbell won the event in 20.56. After the league championship meet, Crawford had a chance at national prominence.

He qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championship meet after running the 200-meters in 20.76 at the USA Championships, posing the third-fastest time of all competitors at the championship meet.

Crawford ran a preliminary time of 20.87 at the national meet, giving him the fastest time going into the finals. "This was my first experience at the NCAAs," said Crawford. "I didn't know if I could run fast enough to win, but I just wanted to run the best race I could."

Crawford won the race with a personal-best time of 20.69, the third-fastest time in Tiger track history. He defeated Campbell by .10 of a second, earning his revenge from the league championship meet.

"When I won I thought, 'Is this real? Did I really win the national championship?'," said Crawford. "I had to catch my breath, because I was tired, before I could even talk to anyone."

"Shawn is in the same category with many of the other great sprint athletes we have had here at Clemson," said Clemson head track and field coach Bob Pollock. "The difference is Shawn has been able to accomplish this feat much earlier than the others. James Trapp was the national champion and the world champion as a junior. Shawn achieved national status as a sophomore."

While becoming the program's youngest national champion, Crawford also helped the team to a third-place finish at the indoor national championship meet, Clemson's highest finish since the 1992-93 season when the Tigers placed second.

Crawford's dominance continued throughout the outdoor season. He was named co-MVP of the ACC championship meet after winning three events. Crawford won the 100-meters with a time of 10.18, and he defeated Campbell in the 200-meters with a time of 20.31. Crawford teamed with Carlton Chambers, Charles Allen and Kenny Franklin to win the 4x100-meter relay and help the Tigers to earn their second consecutive ACC outdoor title.

Outdoors, Crawford finished eighth nationally in the 100-meter dash, third in the 200-meters and fifth as a part of the 4x100-meter relay that recorded a time of 39.07, to become a four-time All-American as a sophomore.

"I pulled my hamstring just before the NCAA outdoor meet, so I was just hoping to make it through the preliminaries and get to the finals," said Crawford.

As a team Clemson tied for 11th place at the outdoor meet, the third-best finish in school history. The Tigers finished 10th in 1993 and 1995.

A native of Van Wyck, SC, Crawford came to Clemson from Indian Land High School, where he was a two-time state champion in the 200-meters and a state champion in the 100-meters.

During his senior year in high school, he was recruited by both Clemson and North Carolina. The Tar Heels were interested in Crawford, but wanted him to compete in some prep time trials before making a final offer. Clemson's Bob Pollock offered a scholarship without the extra time trials, and Crawford accepted his offer.

Despite beating a North Carolina athlete in the finals at NCAA indoors and helping Clemson defeat the Tar Heels in both the ACC indoor and outdoor meets, Crawford says he did not feel he was motivated to get revenge. "I guess it's always in the back of your mind, that they didn't sign you, but it wasn't necessarily a revenge thing," he says.

The Tiger track and field team is preparing for another strong showing at the ACC championship meets this year. "The coaches have done a good job recruiting good athletes to fill places where we lost good runners," said Crawford. "All of the upperclassmen realize that we lost a lot of good runners, so everyone knows we have to step up to the next level. Right now everyone has a good attitude at practice."

"Shawn has improved tremendously during his time at Clemson, but there is a lot more that he can do," said sprint coach Ralph White. "He has proven that hard work and the right attitude can lead to positive things. Now Shawn is the hunted, instead of the hunter. He's going to have to work even harder this year, but I think he will rise to that challenge."

"When you have an athlete win a national championship, you hope the athlete will continue the same work ethic that got them to that position," said Pollock. "Shawn has a great deal of potential and the ability to achieve some outstanding feats this year."

As for Crawford's future after Clemson, he is majoring in parks, recreation and tourism management. "I like working outside, and I would like to develop parks and other places for children," says Crawford. "I think that it is important to keep kids off the streets. They are the future, so they are the most important thing."

But Crawford also plans to continue training. "My goal is to get to the 2000 Olympics," he says. "I have to get there, and I have to win."

With his determination, he will be successful. "I go into every race wanting to beat my best times," says Crawford. "If I run a 20.2 one day, the next week I want to beat that time."

In addition to winning the 200-meter indoor national title, Shawn Crawford was a four-time All-American in 1997-98.

Clemson Golf

by Tim Bourret

The Charles Warren era of Clemson golf has ended. The native of Columbia finished his career as the most accomplished golfer in school history, winning the 1997 NCAA Championship, and finishing second in 1998. He set 17 Clemson golf records during his four seasons and he teamed with classmate Joey Maxon to help Clemson to back-to-back top three national finishes each of the last two years, a first in Clemson history. The Tigers were just three strokes from a National Championship in 1998.

The early returns in the fall of 1998 indicate that the Clemson golf program will continue to prosper without Warren and Maxon, a multiple year all-conference player and top 10 finisher himself at the 1998 NCAA Tournament.

So far this autumn, Clemson has won two of the four tournaments it has entered, and both have been accomplished against a national quality field. In October, Larry Penley's team won the Jerry Pate Intercollegiate in Birmingham against a field that had nine of the top 11 teams in the nation, including Clemson nemesis UNLV, a team Clemson thrashed by 14 strokes.

Just two weeks ago, Clemson finished second at the Rolex Match Play Tournament in Vero Beach, showing this team can win in a tournament format or head to head. The match play event showed the competitive nature of this Clemson team.

"We've got a competitive bunch of young men," said Penley, who has taken Clemson to the NCAA National Tournament 15 straight years, something only one other coach in the country has done. "They don't like losing.

"We knew we were going to miss Charles and Joey because there is no way getting around missing great players. These guys knew for us to be competitive at the national level that their games would have to elevate. They are just a year older and a year better. Our ball striking has been phenomenal, but we have to work on our putting. When we start putting, the scores are going to be scary low."

Clemson was scary low as far as the rest of the field is concerned at the Jerry Pate Intercollegiate. Four Clemson players were under par for the tournament, nearly an unprecedented accomplishment. The Tigers were 20-under-par as a team and set a school record for the lowest 54-hole team score in history (832) and the lowest team round score (269). That second round 269 included four scores in the 60s, also a Clemson first.

John Engler was the star of that round and finished a Clemson best fifth in the tournament individually. He carded a 64 for the day, tied for the second best round in Clemson history and just one stroke away from the school record 63 turned in by Brad Clark at the 1985 ACC Championship. Engler had eight birdies and one bogey in his best round as a Tiger.

"John's putting was the key and will be the key for him this year," said Penley. "When he has confidence in his putter it allows him to be more conservative with his ball striking. He didn't have to charge the flag on every fairway shot."

Engler had a 72.62 stroke average last year as a freshman, the lowest freshman average in Clemson history. He was a model of consistency down the stretch, scoring under par at the ACC Tournament, the NCAA East Regional and the NCAA National event. He is the only freshman in Clemson history to do that.

Classmate Lucas Glover has also been outstanding this fall and in 1997-98. He had a 72.68 stroke average last year, just .06 off the pace set by Engler. He had 16 rounds at par or better and won the Capital Classic in April, defeating, among others, US Amateur Champion Matt Kuchar of Georgia Tech, just one week prior to Kuchar's outstanding performance at The Master's.

So far this year, Glover has a 71.56 average, including a second-place finish at The Ridges Intercollegiate. Glover showed his competitive spirit at the Rolex Match Play this fall. He now has a 4-1-1 career record in the event.

The "veteran" of the starting lineup of this year's Clemson team is Jonathan Byrd. The junior from Columbia, SC is the only player in Clemson history to earn first-team All-ACC honors as a freshman and sophomore. His 72.33 average is the best among returning players from last year's squad. He had 18 rounds under par in 1997-98, including nine rounds in the 60s. For his career, Byrd has a 72.83 average, among the top five in school history.

So far this year Byrd has a 70.56 average and already has a title to his credit. He captured the first tournament of the year, The Ridges Intercollegiate with a nine-under-par 207 score, the lowest 3-day score of his career.

Those three players were etched in stone in the starting lineup when the season began. Penley had two spots open with the graduation of both Warren and Maxon. One of the spots has apparently been filled by a freshman, Michale Hoey.

"I knew he was good and had a lot of competitive spirit," said Penley of his newcomer from Ireland. "He turned it up a notch in his first tournament and was a key to us winning the Jerry Pate." All Hoey did was average 69 over the three rounds, finishing with a six-under-par 207 and a sixth place finish. Hoey could be the second coming of countryman Richard Coughlan, an All-American for Clemson from 1993-97 and a rookie on the PGA tour in 1998.

The fifth spot in the lineup could belong to senior Elliot Gealy. The native of Salisbury, NC was a starter on Clemson's 1997 team that finished third in the nation. He played very well at the Rolex Match Play event and is a veteran of 24 tournaments and 65 rounds in his career.

Luke Ferguson is another senior who could see action this spring. He played in two tournaments in the fall. Sean Thornton and John Walker are two more veterans on the roster with tournament experience.

All of the above players have contributed to Clemson's best fall in history. Clemson was ranked number-one in the nation by Golfweek at one juncture this fall and has been in the top three in the nation in both polls. This is the first time Clemson has won two fall tournaments, and there are still another two events to be played. "I'm not getting real excited about it now, but I do know we're a very good golf team, that's a fact," said Penley. "How good remains to be seen."

Jonathan Byrd is the first player in Clemson history to earn All-ACC honors as a freshman and sophomore.

Clemson University

HISTORY

Thomas Green Clemson believed that South Carolina needed an institution of higher education dedicated to science and agriculture. With his belief came the foundation that was laid for Clemson Agricultural College. On April 6, 1888, Thomas Clemson died, leaving most of his estate to the state of South Carolina with the purpose of establishing a college that would teach scientific agriculture and the mechanical arts to the young people of South Carolina.

The college formally opened its doors in 1893 with an enrollment of 446 students. As an all-male military school, the college quickly became recognized across the nation as an important part of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955 Clemson became a civilian co-educational college. As the school expanded its academic offerings and research pursuits, the state Legislature renamed the college Clemson University in 1964.

Today, Clemson is much more than Thomas Clemson could have ever envisioned. The campus is located on 1400 acres of beautiful rolling hills on what once was the plantation of former U. S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and the Calhouns, Tillman with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor amphitheater all help retain the air of tradition.

Kevin Laird

by Andrew Linn

Clemson football has always been known for their punishing defenses and bulldozing running backs, but the aspect of the game that many fans over-look is that of the job of the punter. Clemson fans who have followed their beloved Tigers over the last twenty years have witnessed some of the greatest punters in Clemson football history. Players like Chris Gardocki, Dale Hatcher, and Nelson Welch have achieved recognition for their ability to be a weapon like no other team possessed. Following in their footsteps is Clemson punter Kevin Laird, who is making a name for himself after two seasons of hardship.

Laird committed to Clemson in the spring of 1994, after verbally committing to Notre Dame. As the story goes, Laird had committed to Notre Dame one Monday night in the spring of 1994, but immediately had misgivings about attending Notre Dame. So later that Monday night, he called the Irish back and withdrew his commitment. "I felt a lot of pressure from people that wanted me to go to Notre Dame," said Laird. "I guess that was what I believed I wanted to do, but when I got off the phone with Notre Dame I felt sick - like I wanted to throw up." That same night, Laird verbally committed to Clemson University, and he signed two days later.

When asked about why he felt so much more at home at Clemson, Laird commented that the coaches, players, and atmosphere of Clemson made him feel comfortable. "I just felt comfortable at Clemson, and I knew that Clemson was the place I needed to be." As Laird mentions, "the kicking tradition Clemson has built over its storied history was also a factor that led me here."

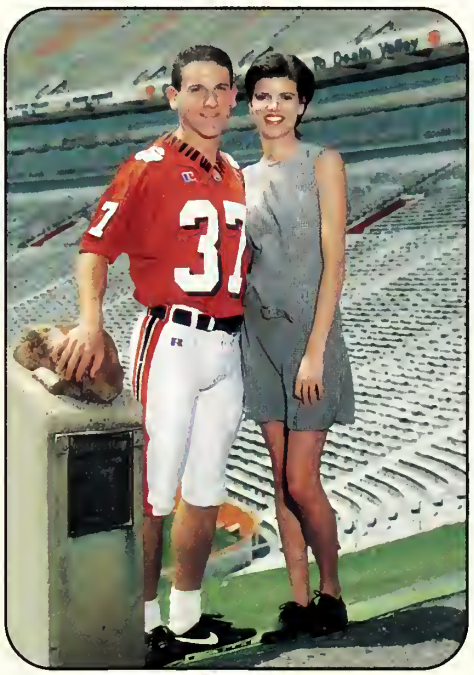
Coming out of high school, Laird was Tommy West's 24th and last signee of the 1995 recruiting class. During his high school career, which saw Laird start his junior and senior seasons, he averaged 41.2 yards per punt and was selected to the All-Metro team in 1993. He played in only seven games his senior season due to a quad muscle injury that hampered his ability to kick field goals and punt. However, he helped lead his team to an 8-4 record his final season and a birth in the state playoffs, where his high school lost in the first round to the eventual state champion. Besides football, Laird was a three-year starter as a back for the Brandon High School soccer team.

Laird came to Clemson knowing that he may have to share the kicking duties with Nelson Welch and Chris McInally, but he won the pooch kicking duties after he was red-shirted in 1994. In 1995, he played in six of twelve games, and averaged 29.9 yards a punt, but had three of his nine punts killed inside the 20. Off the field, Laird had a 7.67 power ratio, which is the total weight lifted divided by body weight. This ratio was the most by a Clemson kicker in 11 years.

Coming into his second full season, Laird punted the ball in every game for the Tigers and boosted his average by seven yards to 37.2 yards a punt. In his sophomore season, Laird tied the Clemson single season record with 24 punts killed inside the 20, including a single game record of seven punts killed inside the 20 yard-line against LSU in the Peach Bowl. That season, Laird killed 16 of his record tying 24 punts in the last four games of the season. What's more impressive is that Laird ranked among the league leaders in field position. His improvement from his freshman season helped build his confidence and establish himself as one of Clemson's brightest stars for the future.

Kevin Laird's best season came in 1997, when he finished the season with the highest punt average for a Clemson kicker since Chris Gardocki. Last season, Laird averaged 42.8 yards per punt, which ranks eighth all-time for a Clemson punter in a single-season. The mark was also the highest average since Gardocki averaged 44.5 yards a punt in 1990. Laird also tallied 15 punts of over 50 yards and killed 16 punts inside the opponents' 20. His accomplishments established him as one of the most improved punters in the nation in 1997.

As Laird says, he owes all his accomplishments and improvement to the work ethic he lives by. "My parents instilled the work ethic that I carry out in me. I work hard ever day to improve my average and ability to punt consistently." Laird has worked hard in the weight room, and with his coaches, in order to help the team and serve as a role model for younger kickers. And all he hopes is that people will remember him as one who did what he was he asked without any resistance. "Hopefully, people will say that I have a very good work ethic, and have done all I can to improve."



Kevin and Kristy Laird

In his final season as a Tiger, Laird has established himself as one of the many great punters to play for Clemson. Through nine games, Laird is averaging over 42 yards a punt. He has also placed 16 punts inside the opponents' 20-yard line and hit 15 punts over 50 yards. His ability to place opponents deep in their own territory has contributed to the Tigers defensive success. In a sense, he has been a key defender for the Tigers all season. Even though the Tigers are experiencing a disappointing season record wise, Laird has many people to thank for his success on and off the field.

Laird has found great happiness with his wife, Kristy, of seventeen months. "Kristy has been my biggest fan and confidence builder. In her eyes, I never have a bad game," Laird says. In a season that finds Laird ranked in the top-40 nationally for punting average, his biggest thrill comes from being with his wife every day of his life. Laird met Kristy after his freshman year at a summer class at Hinds Community College in Pearl, MS. Just over a year later, the two married and they have loved every minute of it. "I love my wife. I wouldn't want it any other way." For Laird, Kristy has been his biggest inspiration.

Laird also holds great respect and love for his parents and brother. Since his first game as a Tiger, his parents have not missed one home or away game. "My parents have supported my brother and I throughout our entire lives. They have always been there to support our performances on the field of play and off." Kevin's brother, Chris, played soccer for Belhaven College and was a member of their National Championship team.

Laird will graduate in December with a degree in soil and environmental science. His ability to perform on and off the field will be missed, but not forgotten. He has established himself as one of the best punters in Clemson history, but more importantly, Laird has established himself as a loving husband and trusting friend.

Men's Basketball

by Tim Bourret

Seldom in college basketball history has a first year coach been more familiar with his inherited roster. Somehow the term "rookie head coach" is not appropriate when analyzing the experience factor of first-year Tiger mentor Larry Shyatt for 1998-99.

Shyatt replaced Rick Barnes as Clemson's 20th head coach last April and was welcomed to campus with open arms by nine returning lettermen and an enthusiastic community. As associate head coach, Shyatt was a driving force behind Clemson's run of three straight postseason appearances, including back to back NCAAs between 1995-96 and 1996-97. His last game in his first tour of duty at Clemson saw the Tigers drop a double overtime decision to Minnesota in the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament.

Shyatt has worked on a daily basis with eight of the nine returning lettermen for 1998-99, and in fact spent two years with five of the Tiger veterans. His year away from the program, when he led Wyoming to a 19-9 record, was basically a sabatical season. Wyoming advanced to the NIT, its first postseason appearance in the 1990s and its highest win total since 1987.

"It certainly is an advantage to know the players and what they can do," said Shyatt when reviewing his "new players." "Having a familiarity is a plus, especially when it comes to the player's families and background. It will be more of a learning experience for our new assistant coaches.

"We all must share that passion to improve. That can and should separate us from the rest."

Shyatt's 1998-99 Clemson roster features five seniors, nine returning lettermen and five players who have been starters for the course of a season at some point in their career. "We certainly want this to be a special season for our seniors," said Shyatt. "The seniors have a chance to become the first class in Clemson history to go to the NCAA Tournament all four of their years. There are only 17 other senior classes across the country who have a chance to do that.

"This senior class at Clemson is special to me because they came here when it was not easy to choose Clemson. These guys were not high school All-Americans. These guys have already left a mark because they have proven that Clemson can sustain a run of success, can go to the NCAA Tournament on a consistent basis, not just have a good season every four or five years."

The foursome of Terrell McIntyre, Harold Jamison, Tony Christie and Tom Wideman has fueled a resurgence of this program to a level of consistency Clemson basketball has never seen before. All four have been key components in bringing Clemson to the NCAA Tournament each of the last three years.

"This team has outstanding character and is a pretty cerebral bunch. In a way last year could be a great motivation for our team. There is an old expression, 'you don't know what you have until you don't have it any longer.' We were a couple of plays away from a berth in the Elite Eight two years ago then lost some heart-breakers last year.

"This year's team has seven guys who experienced that run in the NCAA Tournament two years ago, they know what it takes and I know they want to get back there. Last year's experience has shown them there is a fine line between greatness and being a good team."

The leader of the Clemson backcourt and the Tiger team for that matter is diminutive point guard Terrell McIntyre. An All-ACC player (second and third team, respectively), the last two years, McIntyre has been the glue that has held the Tigers together for the last three seasons.

This was never more obvious that last year when a foot injury limited his playing time and effectiveness for much of the season. His impact on the Clemson team is similar to General Motors impact on the Dow Jones Industrial Average.

He has 1212 career points, second among active ACC players, and was named first-team preseason All-ACC by the media.

Often injured Johnny Miller is another senior guard with plenty of Division I experience with NCAA Tournament caliber teams. A transfer from Temple, Miller has 129 career three points goals, and is in the top five among active ACC players in that category. His 11 points in 14 minutes sent Clemson to victory over Maryland in December, and his three-point goal in the final minute at NC State was pivotal in Clemson's drive to the NCAA Tournament.

Head coach Larry Shyatt hopes senior Harold Jamison will once again be a presence in the middle for the Tigers.

A third returning player with multiple letters at the Division I level is junior Vincent Whitt. A 6-6 guard who is known more as a scorer than a shooter, Whitt averaged 5.5 points per game last year and is a 5.0 scorer for his first two years combined. The native of Greensboro, NC has 189 rebounds in 16.4 minutes per game over his first two years, including 66 off the offensive boards.

Two rookies will challenge for playing time in 1998-99. Will Solomon is a 6-1 guard from East Hartford, CT, who signed with Shyatt's program without ever meeting the Tiger head coach. Dustin Braddick is a 6-4 guard from Charleston who averaged 15.6 points and 7.8 rebounds for a 25-4 team.

Clemson has had a reputation as a physical team in recent years and that will not change with Larry Shyatt on the seen. A look to the roster shows that Clemson has no less than six players who stand at least 6-8 and average 250 pounds. Five of the six are returning lettermen, four of the six have at least two letters.

Harold Jamison and Tom Wideman are a pair of seniors who provide leadership on and off the court. Jamison has been Clemson's top rebounder and field goal percentage leader for three straight years, a statistical double that no Clemson player in history has duplicated. He is second among active ACC players in career rebounds entering this year. He led the ACC in offensive rebounds per game, in fact, he had 20 more offensive rebounds than defensive rebounds.

Wideman ranks 25th in Clemson history in career rebounding with 474. A starter in 74 of the 94 games over the last three years, the academic All-America candidate averaged 4.4 points per game a year ago. He is one of the top post defenders in the ACC and is a .521 field goal shooter for his career, including .533 last year.

Tony Christie is a returning starter at small forward. The native of Hartford, CT started 25 of the 32 games last year and averaged 8.0 points per game, fourth highest on the club. An outstanding perimeter player offensively and defensively, Christie made 54-130 three-point goals last year, third highest total ever by a Clemson forward. The .415 percentage was the top figure by a frontcourt player in the ACC last year.

Andrius Jurkunas red-shirted last season due to a knee injury. A starter for the 1995-96 Clemson team, Jurkunas made 51 three-point goals that year, hitting a .421 clip. He averaged 8.4 points per game that season and led the team in blocked shots. His play was limited to 278 minutes in 1996-97 due to a knee injury.

Mohamed Woni is a junior who gave Clemson many productive minutes off the bench, especially at the end of the season. Woni, a native of the Ivory Coast who speaks four languages and is a design major, averaged 3.7 points and 2.8 rebounds a year ago when he shot .523 from the field. A 77 percent free throw shooter for his career, he made 8 of his last nine free throws and 18 of his last 29 field goals last year.

Adam Allenspach is the only sophomore on the Clemson team. Last year he started 10 games, including six in ACC play, but averaged just nine minutes per game. The native of Florida who was born in Chicago, averaged 2.1 points and 1.2 rebounds per game. Chucky Gilmore is the only rookie among the large group of large Clemson players. The 270-pounder is a native of Fayetteville, NC and 71st High School where he averaged 19 points and 11 rebounds per game.

Clemson Offensive Line Tradition

Clemson Offensive Line by the Numbers

3 Three Clemson offensive linemen, John Phillips, Stacy Long and Stacy Seegars have been two-time first-team All-Americans within the last 10 years.

3 Former Clemson star Jeff Bostic was the starting center on three Washington Redskins teams that won the Super Bowl.

8 Clemson has had an All-American offensive lineman eight of the last 13 years.

8 Clemson has led the ACC in rushing eight of the last 12 years thanks to the play of its talented offensive linemen.

14 Clemson Has had at least one All-ACC offensive lineman 14 of the last 15 years.

47 The tackle-guard combination of Jim Bundren and Glenn Rountree started 47 straight games, leading the Tigers to three straight bowl games.

Stacy Long was a two-time All-American on a pair of 10-2 Clemson teams.

Jim Bundren was a second-team All-American in 1997.

Jeff and Joe Bostic played with distinction for Clemson and a combined 24 years in the NFL. Jeff won three Super Bowl Championships and Joe was a two-time All-American.

John Phillips was a two-time All-American.

Clemson Receiver Tradition

Clemson Receivers by the Numbers

7 Clemson has had seven ACC reception yardage champions in the history of the league. Only Duke has had more.

1978 Clemson's 1978 receiving corp was composed of Dwight Clark, Jerry Butler and Perry Tuttle. Butler and Tuttle were first-team All-Americans and Clark had his number retired by the San Francisco 49ers.

2000 Clemson has had three 2000-yard receivers in its history, Jerry Butler, Perry Tuttle and Terry Smith. No ACC school has had more.

3 Clemson had a starting tight end on three of the four Pittsburgh Steelers Super Bowl Champions in the 1970s.

70 Clemson receiver Tony Horne had 70 receptions in 1997 to rank second in the ACC, 14th in the NCAA. Horne was one of 10 semifinalists for the Biletnikoff Award.

Bennie Cunningham was a two-time All-American who won two Super Bowl rings with Pittsburgh.

All-American Perry Tuttle is one of three 2000-yard career receivers in Clemson history.

Jerry Butler, All-American in 1978, was a Pro Bowl wide receiver for the Buffalo Bills.

Tony Horne was All-ACC as a wide receiver and kick-returner in 1997.

imagine the possibilities

When Clemson College established its computer center in 1961, the center had only two employees and the computer system was housed in a single room.

Today, as a new millennium dawns, a revolutionary age of technology in education draws closer.
Clemson University has been recognized as a leader in this revolution.
With our new virtual laptop system, the creation of "smart classrooms" and the installation of computer hook-ups in every dormitory room, Clemson University is working to make sure our future is one in which students' only limits are the boundaries of their imaginations.

The future begins today.

Clemson Rowing

by Julie Prince Paré

A new era in Tiger athletics begins this year with the addition of women's rowing as the newest Clemson athletic team. Although a new sport to Clemson fans, collegiate rowing has existed for almost 150 years.

Rowing was the first intercollegiate sport in the United States, with the first regatta occurring between Harvard and Yale in 1852. The sport is continuing to grow at the collegiate level, but most athletes do not enter college with prior rowing experience. Eight of the 10 U.S. Olympic rowing medalists in 1992 learned to row in college.

Rowing was one of the original sports in the modern Olympic Games, and the U.S. Rowing team continues to be the third-largest delegation to the event. During the 1996 Olympics, 48 athletes represented the United States in the sport.

The Clemson team members were announced at a press conference on October 1. Forty-five athletes from 15 states, including 20 athletes from South Carolina, will represent the Tigers this year as a part of the inaugural rowing team. The Clemson rowing program will be operating without scholarships this season.

Susie Lueck, the 1997 and 1998 West Coast Conference Coach-of-the-Year at Gonzaga University in Spokane, WA, was named Clemson's first head rowing coach in April. Lueck has served as the head coach at Gonzaga for the past four years. Last spring she guided Gonzaga to the West Coast Conference championship for the second consecutive year.

Many athletes on the Clemson rowing team made the team without ever having rowed on the water. Team tryouts were held in September, but the team's boats did not arrive on campus until October.

"This year in general is a building year of teaching people the fundamentals of the sport," said Lueck, "because over half of the team had never rowed two months ago. There are a lot of basics that we have to cover this year, as well as starting to physiologically train the athletes for the sport."

Physiologically, rowers are superb examples of physical conditioning. Cross-country skiers and long distance speed skaters are comparable in terms of the demands the sport places on the athletes. Physiologists claim that rowing a 2,000-meter race - equivalent to 1.25 miles - is equal to playing back-to-back basketball games.

CLEMSON ROWING SCHEDULE

Nov. 7-8, 1998	Head of the Hootch	Gainesville, GA
Nov. 14, 1998	Head of the South	Augusta, GA
March 13, 1999	Tom White Regatta	Oak Ridge, TN
March 27-28, 1999	Clemson Sprints	Clemson, SC
April 10, 1999	ACC Championship	Raleigh, NC
April 17-18, 1999	SIRA Championships	Oak Ridge, TN
April 24, 1999	UNC Double Dual	TBA
May 7-8, 1999	Dad Vail Championships	Philadelphia, PA
May 15, 1999	Central Regional Sprint	Oak Ridge, TN

The inagural Clemson Rowing Team consists of 45 athletes from 15 states

The rowing schedule is broken up into a nontraditional fall season and a traditional spring season. The fall schedule consists of time trials over a three mile course, while the spring season is for competition between teams on a 1 1/4 mile straight course. "Our first fall competition is November 7, but we will have had a limited amount of time on the water, so we are not looking to see where we rank against other crews," said Lueck. "This fall is more about letting the athletes experience what it is like to go to a regatta, so they understand a little bit more about the sport and have a taste of competition."

The spring season will be highlighted by the Clemson Sprints, held March 27-28 on Lake Hartwell. The following weekend the ACC Championships will be held in Raleigh. Rowing will not have an official conference championship until the spring of 2000, when Florida State begins a rowing program, bringing the number of ACC teams to five.

"Who knows what will happen in the spring season," said Lueck. "North Carolina had a new team last year, so they don't have a lot of experience. Duke also has a new team this year, so we could conceivably be pretty competitive in the conference. Of course, Virginia was third in the nation last season and is going to be really fast again this year."

The Central Region Sprints are the season-ending championships for rowing. "Since rowing is the oldest collegiate sport, the sport existed before leagues and before the NCAA," explains Lueck. "The sport has been through a transition into the NCAA, and the country has been broken up into regions. If we place well enough at the Central Region Championships, then we will go to nationals."

As for the future of Clemson rowing, the Tigers have a young team, with only four seniors. Lueck sees this as a great advantage, because she will have an experience base for next season. Clemson will also be able to have two distinct programs next year, a novice level and a varsity program.

"The success of this year is not determined by race results, but by the building blocks that we can solidly lay for future years," says Lueck.

Future Schedules

With the higher caliber of play in football within the ACC has come an increased demand for ACC games to be televised. In order to give the conference as much exposure as possible, the ACC adopted a policy in 1993 of determining football schedules in December of the year prior to the following football season.

The procedure allows ACC alumni and fans throughout the country to become familiar with ACC institutions, their football programs and student-athletes. More television exposure directly translates into more talented high school football players aware of the high quality of ACC football and correspondingly better athletes enrolling at ACC schools. Finally, higher viewership produces more rights fee dollars from the networks to support each institution's athletics program and the 2,500 student-athletes currently receiving scholarship assistance at ACC institutions.

We apologize for the inconvenience that this policy places on those of you who are making long term plans during the football season. We thank you for your support of Clemson football and the ACC and appreciate your patience.

Here is a look at the Clemson non-conference schedule thru the year 2005. The complete 1999 schedule will be released in December 1998.

Memorial Stadium

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won six games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 56 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 197-74-7, including a 32-11-1 ledger over the last seven seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.0 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 57th year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillian. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillian said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Memorial Stadium is the ninth largest on-campus stadium in the United States.

ACC Football

- The ACC had five of the first 15 players and seven of the first 19 taken in the 1998 NFL draft. The seven first-round selections were the second most in league history.
- The ACC has had 15 first-round draft choices in the last two years, the most in a two-year period in conference history, and more than any other conference. The SEC is second to the ACC in first-round picks the last two years with 14, while the Big 12 is third with eight.
- The ACC had 29 players drafted overall in 1998, third highest among conferences. Eight of the nine schools had at least one pick and they went to 23 different NFL teams.
- The ACC has long been a conference with a strong tradition when it comes to linebackers. Four of the ACC's first eight selections were linebackers in 1998 and overall, six ACC linebackers were chosen, including Clemson's Anthony Simmons, who was the 15th pick of the entire draft by the Seattle Seahawks.
- Over the last two years, 11 ACC linebackers have been selected, including seven within the first three rounds.
- The ACC has had at least one first-round selection in 10 consecutive NFL drafts and in 19 of the last 20. Florida State leads in first-round selections with 21, while Clemson is second with 18. The Tigers have had 168 players drafted in history, including five in 1998.
- There were only 13 teams nationally who had at least five selections and the ACC had three of those teams. Florida State, North Carolina and Clemson all had at least five draft choices in 1998.
- For each of the last two years, the ACC placed 11 former players in the NFL Pro Bowl. Only the Pac-10 with 17 selections had more Pro Bowl selections than the ACC in 1997. Clemson has had seven of those 22 ACC Pro Bowl selections over the last two years, including Levon Kirkland and Chester McGlockton, who have gone each of the last two seasons.
- The ACC had a conference record six consensus All-Americans in 1997, tied with the Big 12 for the most consensus All-Americans. The list included Clemson's Anthony Simmons, who was a first-team selection by Associated Press, the Football Coaches Association and Sporting News. The ACC has had 10 consensus first-team All-America selections over the last two seasons.

Clemson's Anthony Simmons was one of the five ACC players picked among the first 15 players selected in the 1998 NFL Draft.

- Overall, the ACC had 16 different players earn, first, second or third-team All-America honors in 1997.
- A total of 154 former players from the nine ACC schools played in 1997 in the NFL during the regular season or post-season.
- The ACC is the nation's second winningest conference in bowl games over the years. The league has a combined .540 winning percentage (79-67-5) in bowl games. Over the last eight years the ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its member schools play in a bowl game.
- Georgia Tech, Clemson and Florida State all rank among the top 15 schools in the history of the game in bowl winning percentage (given a minimum of 15 appearances).
- In the decade of the 1990s, ACC teams have posted the nation's second best non-conference winning percentage. The ACC is 176-92-4 against non-league foes since 1990.
- The ACC is one of only two conferences to capture three or more national football championships since 1980. Clemson won the title in 1981, while Georgia Tech took the crown in 1990 and Florida State was number-one in 1993. Maryland also won the National Championship in 1953, giving the ACC four different schools who have been number-one at the end of a season.
- The 1997 season marked the ninth straight year that the ACC has had at least four teams participate in bowl games.
- ACC Football has drawn at least 2.2 million fans for seven straight years. ACC teams played to 85 percent of their stadium capacity in 1997.
- Twelve times in the last 18 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to the CFA institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team.
- Eighty percent of ACC football games involving conference teams are on television. Clemson has averaged 10 televised games per year the last three years to rank among the national leaders in that category. That should be the case again this year. As many as 10 games are expected to be seen on national or regional TV this year, including the Georgia Tech game on ESPN on Thursday, November 12th.

Student-Athlete Enrichment

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and was the first in the country built solely for the all-around education of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square -foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes.

The mission of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is to monitor, guide, and encourage student-athletes to fulfill their long term goal, and to achieve their academic and career potential.

Vickery Hall focuses on three primary areas to meet the student-athlete's needs.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs have provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation.

The proof is in the statistics. A record number of Clemson student-athletes made the academic honor roll in 1997. Nine of Clemson's 13 Sports programs had a higher GPA than the student body average in the 1997 Spring semester. Twenty Clemson football players were on the ACC academic honor roll for the 1996-97 academic year, an all-time record. The Tiger football team had an all-time record GPA for the entire year in 1997-98. The Academic Counselor performs a variety of duties to track academic progress. Their duties include providing assistance in registration and priority scheduling, contacting faculty, personally checking classes, recording information, counseling sessions with student-athletes, providing diagnostic testing, and directing career aspirations.

One of the most prestigious programs that has received recognition essential to the growth of Vickery Hall is the tutorial program.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Program has been granted a Level 1 certification from the College of Reading and Learning Association, International Tutor Certification Program. Of the 160 programs certified by CRLA, the Clemson Student-Athlete Enrichment Program is one of three student-athlete programs in the country to achieve this distinction.

Having tutor certification enables student-athletes to be provided the highest quality of academic assistance possible. Approximately 80 tutors are hired to provide academic support in the many subject areas offered.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to provide the student-athletes at Clemson with the largest computer lab in the country. Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs' Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open seven days a week, for 16 hours on Monday through Thursday, and limited time on Saturday and Sunday. During exam periods the lab hours are extended.

The lab staff has a full-time computer manager in Steve Coleman, and also graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course, as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Program is committed to providing state-of-the-art computing facilities. New computers have recently been purchased bringing the lab to a state of the art facility. Over 40 computers are available for student-athletes.

All computers are fully connected to the internet allowing for access of computers throughout the world for research and communication.

PERSONAL GROWTH PROGRAM

One of the most important programs that helps student-athletes reach their full potential and engage successfully in this college experience is the Personal Growth and Development Program.

The purpose of this program is to assist the student-athlete in making a successful transition into his/her university and athletic life. These programs will provide the student-athlete the opportunity to examine and explore issues and topics pertaining to his/her values, personal health and wellness, behavior, and goals. The specific topics will encompass both general transition issues and specific athletic issues as well.

CAREER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The Career Assistance Program provides student-athletes an opportunity to fulfill career aspirations by participating in various career seminars offered by the staff at Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job searching skills and strategies, internships, practicum experience as well as summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities through a program that uses each year to gain information on the student-athletes.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, the staff is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Career Assistance Program is coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and focuses on resume writing and interview techniques.

Vickery Hall was the first facility of its kind in the nation when it was constructed in 1991.

Tiger Band

Evening at the Pops

The Tiger Band's Flag Line

by Marsha Byers

Tonight, the Clemson Tigers will face the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets in Clemson's first ever Thursday night game on ESPN. Once again the Tigers will be supported and encouraged by the Tiger Band.

The Tiger Band's performance will begin with their traditional pre-game show. The program will begin with the "Orange Bowl March" followed by the ever popular "Tiger Rag". Before the presentation of the colors, the band will perform one of John Phillip Sousa's most famous marches, "The Washington Post". Tiger Band will then perform "God Bless America" before the invocation. After the invocation the crowd is invited to take part in the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner". Following this tribute to our country the Tiger Band invites everyone to sing the Clemson University Alma Mater. This leads into the long standing tradition of dotting the "I" in the band's script "Tigers." Today's dotting of the "I" will be done by Chip and Diane Egan.

The finale of the pre-game extravaganza will be when the band moves to form a tunnel at the east end of Death Valley for "the most exciting twenty-five seconds in college football." While forming the tunnel, the Tiger Band will once again wow the crowd with the "Orange Bowl March". At the beginning of the "Tiger Rag" the cannon will fire and the Clemson Tigers will run down the hill.

Tonight, Tiger Band presents a patriotic "pop concert" in the Boston Pops tradition. Featured music will be "Festive Overture" by Shostakovich; Tchaikovshy's "1812 Overture", and as a special salute to our American veterans and the men and women in our Armed Forces around the world, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The Tiger Band Flag Line will help contribute to the half-time show. The contributions of the twenty-one women adds to the color and pageantry of every Tiger Band performance. The Tiger Band Flag Line has become known as one of the finest college flag lines in the country. Flag Line auditions are held each fall prior to the beginning of classes.

The members of this year's Flag Line are Brooke Adams, Amy Barnett, Caroline Bland, Cassandra Carnes, Meghan Cumor, Christina Gause, LaShanda Glenn, Karen Karr, Nicole Harris, Allison Hennessey, Melissa Jenkinson, Christina Johnson, Devon Kelly, Denise Nelson, Jennifer Rector, Meredith Robillard, Kelly Sanborn, Jenny Taylor, Margaret Taylor, Jamie Wood, and Summer Yeargin.

The Tiger Band Flag Line is lead by Cassandra Carnes, Karen Karr, and Meredith Robillard. Cassie Carnes is in the first year as a Flag Line Captain, and her fifth year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is a native of Aiken, SC and a graduate of South Aiken High School. Cassie is a senior majoring in Animal Industry.

Karen Karr is in the fourth year as a Flag Captain, and her fifth year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is a native of Lilburn, GA and a graduate of Brookwood High School. Karen is a senior majoring in Health Science.

Meredith Robillard is in her first year as a Flag Captain, and her second year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is a native of West Springfield, MA and a graduate of West Springfield High School. Meredith is a sophomore majoring in Engineering.

The group is instructed by Cheryl Hosler. She is in her seventh year as instructor and choreographer of the Tiger Band Flag Line. A native of Columbus, OH, she is a graduate of Ohio State University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Dance Performance.

Let us all thank the Tiger Band and staff: Dr. Mark Hosler - Director, Tiger Band; Paul Buyer - Percussion Instructor; Cheryl Hosler - Flag Line/ Twirler Instructor; and Tim Willis - Announcer, for their constant support and encouragement. Everyone is welcome to attend the Tiger band's annual "Pass-in-Review" concert on Thursday, November 19, at 8 p.m. in the Brooks Center.

Copies of the band's CD, "Eye of the Tiger," can be purchased for $15 plus $2 shipping and handling by contacting the Tiger Band Office at (864) 656-3380. All proceeds from the sale of CDs will be used to help finance band scholarships.

Clemson University Alma Mater

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway

Chorus
Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

Wesley Ellis

by Bernie Merritt

When opportunity knocks, most people don't hear it. And when they do most people are unprepared and often willing to pass the chance up. But Clemson tight end Wesley Ellis is not most people. When the opportunity to play football at a major university knocked, Ellis was prepared and answered it loudly and clearly. This was one opportunity he just couldn't turn down.

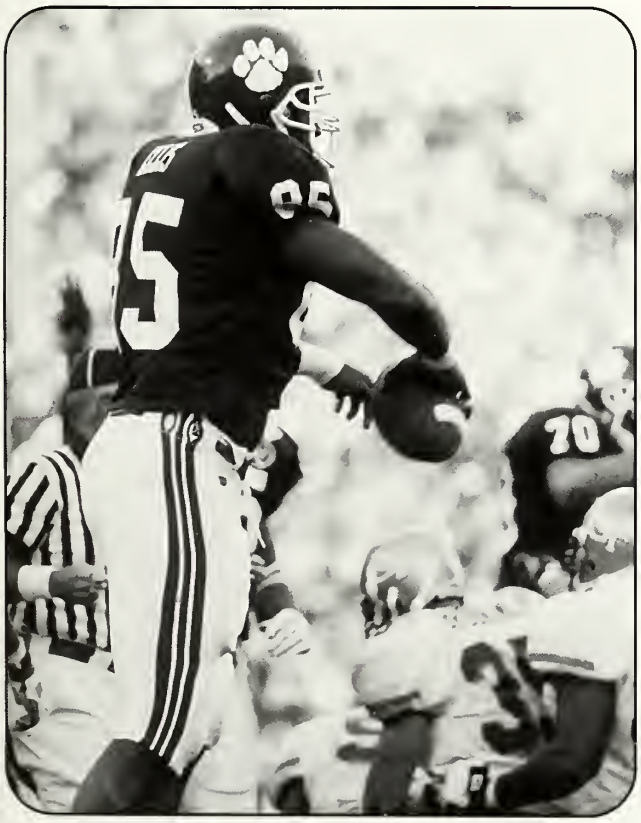
Times were hard for Ellis growing up in Pemberton, NJ. A lot of his friends were making the wrong choices and it was taking everything that he had to stay out of trouble. But with the help of his parents and other family members, Ellis steered clear of the bad things engulfing so many of his friends and teammates.

At Pemberton High School, football also helped him make the rough often bleak times a little more bearable. As a tight end, Ellis was nominated as the most improved player for three years in a row and was placed on the Liberty Division All-Star second team. His most promising and unforgettable moment came when he caught his first touchdown as a tight end against Pemberton High's arch-rival Willinboro High. Ellis was also named MVP of the game. He had finally gotten the chance to show off his great athletic ability.

Football gave Ellis the opportunity to further not only his athletic career but his academic career as well. By juggling both football and classes all four years in high school, he showed that he could excel in the classroom and the athletic field at the college level. And to Ellis, there was no better place to pursue both careers than at Clemson. "Coming out of high school, Clemson had caught my eye because of the camaraderie of the team and the coaches. Vickery Hall was also a plus since my education has always been first and foremost."

However, things didn't improve that much when Ellis got to Clemson. During the 1994 season he sat out as a red-shirt. When he began to play he was forced to wait behind Lamont Hall, who was having one of Clemson's best careers for a tight end in recent history. "It was hard sitting on the bench waiting for my turn to play. But I learned a lot from Lamont and I also learned how to be patient and take things as they come. I have no regrets about my choice to come here to Clemson."

Once again Ellis turned to his parents, family and his own experiences for strength. Former Career Enhancement Coordinator James Earle also helped Ellis get through the tough times of college. "Coach Earle explained a lot of things to me as I grew up as a college athlete and student. He taught me some things I'll never forget." Current Clemson graduate assistant coach Vance Vice helped Ellis stay focused on his goals for the present and the future. "This year I wanted to come in and have a good camp and help the team win some games. Coach Vice has helped me so far by keeping me motivated on and off the field."



With their help the last two seasons things have improved for Ellis. In 1996 he played in nine of the team's 12 games missing only the Florida State, Duke and LSU contests. He was active in 33 plays and gave the Tigers some depth at the tight end position. Last season, Hall was moved to fullback and Ellis answered the opportunity. He started his first collegiate game against Duke and saw action in 86 snaps. He missed only the Virginia and North Carolina games.

This season, Ellis has continued to play well. He started the first two games of the season and caught the eye of Clemson Coach Mac McWhorter. "I was a little skeptical about Ellis at first. I wasn't sure if he could handle the load, but he has proved a lot of people wrong and has provided some much needed consistency and depth at the tight end position."

This recent success is not only due to the advice of Coaches Earle and Vice, but also due to his improvement in the weight room. His power clean lift of 341 pounds is tied for fourth best on the team. Ellis also benches 407 pounds which is good enough for 10th best on the squad.

Once again though, tough times have fallen on Ellis. After his two starts to open the season, he has seen limited action due to a shoulder injury. Ellis was once again forced to look from the bench and wonder if he was going to be able to finish out his senior season. But things aren't all that bad. Over the last five years, Ellis has gotten to do things his high school friends never did. The friends who drifted and searched for direction in high school now look at Ellis and wish they could have also been admitted into a major university. "When I talk to them, they tell me they saw me on television or read about me in the paper. It really inspires me and keeps me focused on my goals as an athlete and student. Most of them don't even have degrees, so I feel very fortunate to have the opportunity to finish my athletic and academic careers."

Ellis once again answered an opportunity to improve himself. He will graduate in December with a degree in industrial education with hopes of getting a job working and relating with people. "I learned to never put my eggs in one basket, so if football doesn't pan out I'll have something to fall back on. I want to work with people and hope to work in personnel at the professional level."

Being prepared for what might be thrown at you has been somewhat of a motto for Ellis. He was prepared when his friends began to drift in high school as he turned to family and football instead of following them down the wrong path. When he came to Clemson and had to wait behind Hall before he could be center stage, he stayed focused and motivated. Instead of falling behind, Ellis turned to friends, like fellow fifth-year senior Travis Macklin, family and coaches for support. He also hit the weight room to try and get ahead. He has also continued to study hard and will graduate ahead of schedule in December. So while most of us are unprepared when opportunity knocks, Ellis remains focused and ready to answer any opportunity thrown at him the way he always has: loudly and clearly.

The Last Word

by Tim Bourret

Twenty-one years ago today, I saw my first football game at Death Valley. It just happened to be the greatest collection of athletes on Frank Howard Field in the 57-year history of Memorial Stadium.

Both starting quarterbacks were juniors and making a name for themselves. Clemson's Steve Fuller would be named first-team Academic All-American and ACC Player of the Year twice. Notre Dame's Joe Montana never made an All-America team in college (bet you didn't know that), but won four Super Bowl Championships in the NFL.

Clemson also had the Bostic Brothers, Joe and Jeff, who combined to play 24 years in the NFL. Jeff went on to win three Super Bowl Championship rings with the Washington Redskins. This Clemson team also had Jerry Butler and Dwight Clark as its starting wide receivers. Both went on to play in the NFL Pro Bowl, in fact, Clark was the MVP of the NFL in 1982.

Notre Dame also had Ken MacAfee, a 1998 Hall of Fame inductee, and Ross Browner, who won the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Awards in his career. Luther Bradley, whose father was high school coach at Brewer High in Greenwood in 1968, was a three-time All-American in the Irish secondary. Notre Dame also had Bob Golic, who went on to play 13 years in the NFL and then starred on television in the comedy program "Saved by the Bell."

Notre Dame came to Clemson for the first time in history ranked fifth in the nation with a 7-1 record. The Irish had stumbled early in the season at Mississippi (also the first time Notre Dame had ever played at Mississippi), but had been on a roll prior to the game at Clemson, defeating a fifth-ranked Southern Cal team 49-19 and most recently, Georgia Tech by a 69-14 score. That was Georgia Tech's worst loss since a 73-0 defeat against Clemson in 1903.

Clemson was 7-1-1 entering the game and ranked 15th in the country. The Tigers were coming off a 13-13 tie at North Carolina, a game that eventually cost Clemson the ACC title. But, this was a rebirth season for Clemson football. The Tigers program had not been to a bowl game in 18 years, but an early season victory at Georgia (7-6) had put Charley Pell's team on a different level.

A look back to the rosters reveals that 36 players who participated in this game, went on to play in the NFL. The players who participated combined to win 14 Super Bowl Championships in their future NFL careers. There were seven first-round draft choices and 18 players who would earn All-America honors at one time or another in their careers.

I am uniquely qualified to give testimony to the talent on both sides of the field this day, because I saw these players on an everyday basis over the course of a season. In 1977, I was a graduate assistant in the Notre Dame Sports Information Office and traveled with the team to Clemson. A year later, I was at Clemson as assistant sports information director.

As far as national interest, there hasn't been a game like it at Clemson since. Forty-five different newspapers had media covering the game, including the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, Dallas Morning News and Philadelphia Inquirer. There were 13 scouts from eight bowls observing the game. In those days, ABC broadcast a national game of the week, but Notre Dame had already used up its limit of appearances so the game could not be shown. But, it was broadcast by Mutual Radio to over 450 stations across the country, and Notre Dame's television replay network with Lindsey Nelson showed the contest nationwide the following morning at 11:30 AM.

Joe Montana	Notre Dame	4 time Super Bowl MVP/Future NFL Hall of Famer
Ken MacAfee	Notre Dame	1977 Maxwell Award Winner/3rd in Heisman Trophy voting College Football Hall of Fame/1st round draft choice
Jim Stuckey	Clemson	All-American 1979/ 1st-round draft choice

The Notre Dame team arrived at Death Valley at 11:15 AM for the 1:00 PM kickoff. I was riding on the Notre Dame bus with Roger Valdiserri, the Notre Dame Sports Information Director and my boss, for the short bus ride to the game. When we parked at the visiting dressing room we could see the hill at the East end of the stadium. It was already packed. Valdiserri looked at me and said, "What are we doing here?" Clemson fans were in a frenzy nearly two hours prior to the game. Head Cheerleader Joey Erwin, now co-host of the Tiger Tailgate show, was in rare form.

The record crowd of 54,189 would be treated to a classic. Clemson held a 10-7 lead at intermission and it could have been larger. The Tigers held a 213-101 advantage in total offense at intermission. Fuller was 9-12 in the first half for 124 yards, while Montana was just 3-9 for 53 yards. Some turnovers kept Notre Dame in the game.

The third period was more Clemson. On the Tigers first possession of the quarter, Fuller hit Warren Ratchford for 35 yards. Four plays later Lester Brown scored on an end run from two yards. He got some assistance from referee W.H. Cummings, who blocked out Notre Dame defensive back Ted Burgmeier on the play. It brought the ire of Notre Dame coach Dan Devine.

It was still 17-7 entering the fourth period. Joe Montana was famous for his fourth period comebacks in college and the NFL and one of the reasons he has this reputation took place at Clemson. At the end of the third period, Notre Dame actually had a drive with 119 yards of total offense. Devine received an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty when he went on the field and picked up a flag that had been called against the Irish to negate a 30-yard run by Vegas Ferguson. It set up a second and 31, but Montana overcame his coach's mistake, hitting MacAfee for 27 yards then for 16 on a fourth-and-two.

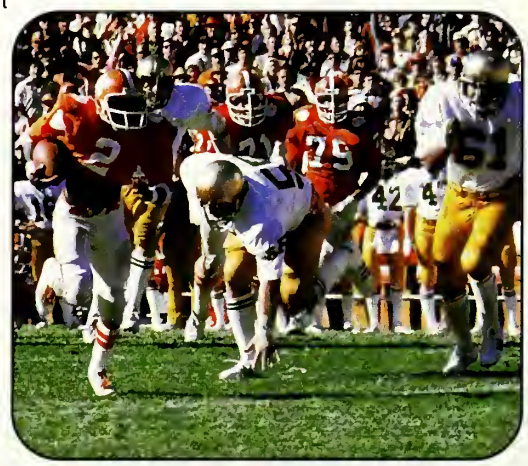
Clemson still led 17-14 with 10 minutes remaining and had the ball near midfield. Fuller was making progress, but the ball popped loose and Notre Dame's Mike Calhoun recovered. Montana had been saving a screen pass for a special occasion and he connected with Ferguson, a sophomore at the time who would go on to become Notre Dame's all-time leading rusher. The play was good for 36 yards and set up another Montana touchdown run to give the Irish a 21-17 lead. Clemson got possession twice more, but went three and out both times.

Despite the loss, Clemson gained more national respect for its overall program than it had in any of its previous seven victories. The national media was impressed with Clemson's ability to compete with the team most felt would go on to win the national championship. Clemson received the ultimate compliment in terms of respect the following Tuesday when the new AP poll was released. Clemson retained its #15 rankings, the only time in Clemson history that the Tigers have lost a game, yet did not fall in the polls.

Notre Dame won its remaining games in routs, including 38-10 over Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Those victories enhanced the reputation of Clemson's program and the legend of Death Valley.

The following August, Al Adams left the Sports Information Office to start the Orange & White, creating an opening in Bob Bradley's department. I applied for the position and was chosen. Upon receiving the news I went to the Notre Dame locker room to tell some of the veteran players. I remember telling Montana and his reaction was, "Those people are crazy about football. What a great place to start your career."

He was right.



Warren Ratchford picks up a big gain against Notre Dame in a game that was played 21 years ago today at Death Valley.
